Husband Held in Cape Slaying—Climaxing an all-night grilling, Gerard Cottle, 30 (center), allegedly confessed to the slaying of his wife, Priscilla, 29, mother of three children, in front of their West Yarmouth home on Cape Cod. He leads Barnstable County Sheriff Donald P. Tullock, Deputy Chief William Healy, of Yarmouth, Chief Nelson F. Cressey, of Yarmouth, and State Trooper William Flanagan to scene of the crime. He re-enacted details of the crime, according to police, then led them to bushes where he hid a rock and pinch bar, the murder weapons.

R. I. Hearing Opens Probe Of Food Cost

New England's skyrocketing food prices became the object of a week-long scrutiny by a congressional subcommittee today, with the group, which will open a three-day session in Boston tomorrow, holding its initial hearing in the Federal Building in Providence.

Today's Providence session of the committee, headed by Sen. Ralph M. Flanders of Vermont, was expected to serve as a pattern for the three-day session to be held in Boston and another meeting scheduled for Friday in Manchester, N. H.

To expedite the hearings, all witnesses were requested to submit prepared statements and confine remarks to oral summaries. This gave additional time for questioning by committee members.

The Flanders sub-committee will continue its hearings along the Eastern seaboard until mid-October, when it will report to its full committee in Washington. Its report, along with those of sub-committees touring the Middle and Far West, is expected to be presented to Congress by Feb. 1.

Prior to the Providence hearing, Sen. Flanders warned that spiraling food prices might force the government to curtail liquor production and order a return to the gray bread of wartime in order that grain—"the key to food prices"—might be allocated to the best possible use.

Flanders' remarks were made as Rep. Sabath (D.) of Illinois uged Atty. Gen. Clark to launch anti-trust investigations against five more major groups which the Congressman said are "responsible for the ever-increasing cost of living."

FIVE INQUIRIES

In a letter to Clark, Sabath asked inquires into:

"The meat packing trust, the most vicious of them all; the dairy products combination; the few men who manipulate the Board of Trade and are responsible for the unjustifiable boosting of all the prices of grain; the produce exchanges, particularly those dealing in butter, cheese and eggs, all of which are selfishly controlled by a small group of men; and the fertilizer trusts, who are robbing the farmers of the country."

The Vermont Republican suggested that the allocation system might well be tied in with government purchases of grain for overseas relief shipments. He reported numerous complaints that present government purchasing policies on relief shipments are forcing prices unduly upward."

Flanders pointed out that his suggestion of grain allocations was not to be taken as endorsement of proposals for a return of general food rationing.

Flanders' statement came close on the heels of a prediction by Chester C. Davis of the President's Committee on Foreign Aid that unless the American people undertake voluntary meat rationing, the government wouuld have to resume wartime grain controls.

Flanders said last week's sudden drop in the Chicago grain market following his suggestion that a 100 per cent margin rule be imposed "causes one to suspect that the market is very largely speculative."

Bread, Lard Now Head Up

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (INS)—The rising tide of prices threatened today to engulf bread and lard as well as meat, butter, eggs and other dairy products.

The probable increase in bread and lard prices was forecast despite a report of the Agriculture Department that the world's bread-grain crop will be slightly larger this year than last.

The catch in the situation is that the grain crop will be smaller in Europe and areas where the need is greatest. As a result, the department prophesied "another year of critically low bread rations for many areas."

The department pointed out that Europe to survive thus must import "even larger" amounts of grain for food than last season.

The report of the department's foreign agriculture relations office followed previous estimates of a poor corn crop in the United States.

Meat packing spokesmen in Chicago agree that the drastic reduction in corn production and shortages in other feedstuffs are expected to reduce the hog supply and cut deeply into the U. S. lard supply.

As a result, they looked for a lard shortage next spring despite the present sizable American surplus of the commodity.

They pointed out that there has been a rapid decline in lard production in recent weeks and predicted a substantial increase in allocation for fourth quarter export will drain off much of the current surplus.

Marshall Aides Plan Surprises

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (INS)—State Sec. Marshall and his top aids conferred today on the surprise proposals which he plans to make after the UN General Assembly opens tomorrow.

Marshall promised the surprises in his first major address on the UN yesterday. He said, however, he could not reveal their nature in advance of the 55-nation assembly.

Marshall at day-long conferences today planned to plot the "Battle of the Peace" in an urgent effort to save the UN from impotency and to evolve tactics designed to heal the East-West split.

Marshall gave a broad blueprint of his objectives in the battle he will supervise personally in the coming weeks in yesterday's nationwide radio broadcast. The talk served as a curtain raiser for the observance of UN week. It was given under the auspices of the American Assn of the United Nations.

Hurricane Warnings Wait Change in Storm's Course

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15 (AP)—A violent tropical hurricane, churning across the South Atlantic at the rate of 12 to 14 miles per hour, was believed in the process of a slow recurvature to a more northerly direction today.

CENTER—This photo shows the rough sea on the edge of the hurricane . . . as winds begin their upward spiral from the ocean surface, violently churning water into gigantic waves.

A Weather Bureau advisory said there was "very little change" in the direction of the five-day-old hurricane and it was still traveling in a west-northwest to northwest course.

It was located about 250 miles east-northeast of Nassau at 5 a. m. This would place the center approximately 500 miles east of Miami.

Chief Forecaster Grady Norton said general pressure conditions in the North Atlantic area indicate the storm would most likely begin a northerly recurve, but there is yet no definite curving movement.

Winds of 125 to 143 miles per hour whirled near the center of the storm, with hurricane force winds reaching out over an area more than 70 miles from the core. Gale winds extend outward 200 miles to the north and east.

"No land area is threatened at present," Norton said, "and no warnings have been ordered displayed.

Only land point to report the effects of the storm was at Land Cay in the Eastern Bahamas which, at last report, was experiencing winds of 25 to 31 miles per hour.

Hurricane Plane Finds Gale With 'Double Eye'

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15 (AP)—Navy hurricane hunter aircraft, flying into heart of a violent tropical hurricane, Saturday reported locating a strange "double eye" developing in the core of the 140-mile-an-hour storm.

Lt.-Com. A. R. Fields, aerological officer of Meteorlogical Squadron 3, based at the naval air station in Miami, described the phenomenon after his return to Miami from Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, where the four-motored Privateer hurricane hunters were based.

Fields said the Privateer on Saturday was about 10 miles from the core of the hurricane—then southeast of Puerto Rico—when the radar operator reported that he spotted a "double-eye" on the radar scope.

"I studied the scope and it very definitely showed the two distinct concentric cores in the storm. I believe that this is the first time such a condition has been found in such a perfectly developed state in any tropical hurricane," he said.

Fields said the best way to describe the two cores was to liken the entire hurricane to a spool sitting in an empty bowl.

"The outer rim of the bowl would represent the outer fringe of the storm—or the terrifically turbulent air with winds above 100 miles an hour. The space between the spool and the rim of the bowl would represent the new developing eye, where the air is calm and only a few scattered low clouds can be seen. The spool would represent the core of the storm where the winds are the strongest and the hollow center of the spool would represent the eye."

Fields said official Navy photographs were taken of the strom (transmitted by Associated Press Wirephoto) from an altitude of 1200 feet as the plane flew on the inside of the storm in the peaceful air.

As the photographer worked, he said, the plane was surrounded by a huge gray wall of violent winds.

"It was like flying around inside a fishbowl of calm air," he explained.

In the center of the "fishbowl" the huge core of the storm rose in a column 15,000 or 20,000 feet.

"In the center of the storm, where the violent winds begin their upward spiral from the ocean surface, the water was violently churned into gigantic waves. Our photographer also caught this unusual sight in his lens."

2D HURRICANE NOW REPORTED

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15 (AP)—Ship reports that a second tropical storm was developing in the South Atlantic today sent an Army hurricane hunter aircraft into the "area of suspicion" to make a visual survey.

The Navy weather station at the OPA Locka naval air base reported that the area under suspicion was pinpointed at latitude 11 north, longitude 50 west—a few hundred miles south of the point at which a violent 140-mile-an-hour hurricane now sweeping west northwestward up the Atlantic was first discovered last Thursday.

Grady Norton, chief forecaster at the U. S. Weather Bureau in Miami said no definite storm had yet been located, but reports from ships at sea and the San Juan, Puerto Rico weather station had prompted the decision to send a hurricane hunter to investigate.

Mate Held In Jealousy Cape Killing

BARNSTABLE, Sept. 15—Only a few hours after police said he confessed the crime, Girard "Jerry" Cottle, 28, West Yarmouth plumber, today pleaded not guilty in district court here to the murder of his small, slender wife, Priscilla, 29, mother of three children.

Calm after a good breakfast, Cottle was accompanied to court by his father, George Cottle, Shawmut ave., South End; State Det. Lt. John F. Dempsey, Yarmouth Police Chief Nelson F. Creassey and the latter's assistant, Deputy Police Chief William Healey.

Judge Paul M. Swift continued the case for a hearing Sept. 26, when it is expected to be given to the grand jury, and held Cottle without bail.

In full control of his emotions, Cottle said:

"I appreciate the continuance."

"You want time for a lawyer, don't you?" asked Judge Swift.

"Yes, I do," replied Cottle just before he was remanded to jail.

BODY UNDER BARN

The body of the young mother, a saleswoman in a Hyannis five-and-ten-cent store, was found yesterday afternoon stuffed under the floor of a cranberry barn about 150 yards from her home in Albion st. She had been bludgeoned to death between midnight and 2 a. m. with a rock and pinch bar.

According to Dempsey and Cressey, Cottle admitted he struck his wife over the head when she arrived home after hours of absence in ac ar driven by another man.

After making the statement, Cottle accompanied police to the scene of the crime, where he re-enacted details of the slaying and then led the officers to where he had hidden the 5-pound rock and 2-foot iron pinch bar under a clump of bushes.

Beside the bloodstained weapons were the victim's pocketbook, containing $90, and some groceries she had brought home. All were wrapped in portions of underwear torn from her body.

An autopsy report by State Pathologist Alan R. Moritz and Medical Examiner Carroll H. Keene disclosed that the blows inflicted by the rock were fatal and the victim was dying when her skull was split open by the pinch bar.

Officials said that Cottle, in his statement, said he had arrived home Saturday midnight and was informed by his children that their mother had not been home all evening. He said that shortly before 1 o'clock she returned home in an auto in company with another man.

In a fit of fury, Cottle was said to have told the investigators, he seized the rock and, when his wife reached the lawn of their home after alighting from the car, struck her down.

Later, he said, he heard groans and returned to find his wife lying in the back yard. He said he then struck her across the head with the pinch bar and dragged her body to the cranberry barn and stuffed it under some canvas bags beneath the flooring.

Officials said he then told of removing some of her underwear to wrap around the weapons and other articles, after which he said he removed his shoes and walked barefoot across the cranberry bog to a short lane, where he hid them under some bushes.

A trail of blood from the crushed skull of the victim as she was dragged to the cranberry barn led to discovery of her body by her brother, Albert Roderick, 36, who with his wife, Rita, 32, lived with the Cottles. Roderick had earlier reported his sister missing.

Roderick said his wife had told him she thought she had heard a woman's screams for help and heard an auto leaving from in front of the Cottle home. He told officials his wife was not sure that the screams were those of Priscilla, but when, at the Sunday breakfast table, Mrs. Cottle was not in her usual place, their suspicions grew.

BODY IS FOUND

When more than three hours had passed and Mrs. Cottle failed to put in an appearance, police were told of what Mrs. Roderick had heard in the early morning hours. State troopers were sent to the Cottle home to investigate. At 3:40 p. m. the slain woman's body was found.

Roderick, taking a course through a field near the house, came upon the trail of blood. It led to a two-foot opening beneath the floor of the shed where the body had been hidden.

The killer had managed to push the body a distance of about 10 feet under the floor and then covered it with the canvas bags. It was removed to a local undertaker's establishment where the autopsy was performed.

The slain mother, well known in the Yarmouth district, was employed as cashier in a Hyannis chain store.

The slain woman was five feet tall and weighed 100 pounds. She was the mother of Sandra, 8; Beverly, 4, and Kenneth, 2.

88 Cambridge Ejectment Writs

CCharles T. Cavanagh, clerk of the East Cambridge district court, announced today 88 ejectment writs already have been filed there by landlords and that he expects almost double that number by the time hearings are held on the petitions Sept. 30.

Hearings have been put over to that date because of the Jewish holidays this week and next, Cavanaugh said.

Reasons offered in the petitions for ejectment include nonpayment of rent, creating of nuisances and because the owners wishes the property for his own use. The writs were filed under a law passed by the Legislature last July.

Find Pawtucket Pair Shot Dead in Suite

PAWTUCKET, Sept. 15 — The bodies of Alexander White, 32, and Mrs. Anne Hayes, 32, mother of an 11-year-old daughter, both riddled by slugs from a .45 automatic, were found today in White's bachelor suite on the third floor of an apartment house in Hancock st.

Police announced unofficially they believed White killed the woman in a fit of jealous rage and then turned the gun on himself. An official pronouncement by Medical Examiner Dr. Albert J. Gaudet was still forthcoming.

The bodies were found by Howard Rogers, who kept the apartment with White. Rogers, said police, is a gun fancier whose den is lined with several rifles and two pistols, including the murder weapon.

Though four bullet holes were found on the woman and two on White, police were able to account for only five shells. They said it was possible one of the wounds was caused by a ricochet.

Reconstructing the incident, Chief Inspector Vincent Hourigan said White and Mrs. Hayes, separated from her husband Frank for the past three months, quarreled in a Mineral Spring ave. club after White had imbibed heavily.

He quoted a woman friend of the slain mother as saying Mrs. Hayes had told her she was not going out with White any more because he was too jealous.

The shooting apparently took place at 10:30 p. m. yesterday when a bullet pierced the wall of an adjoining apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Archibald, who did not report the incident to police.

The revolver was found in the White-Rogers apartment near the bodies. Though White was only partly clothed, Mrs. Hayes was fully dressed.

Ex-Cop Pleads Not Guilty in Shooting Fray

Robert B. Williams, 45-year-old former Everett policeman, who was overpowered by officers there yesterday after allegedly invading his mother-in-law's home with four shotgun blasts, one of which wounded an 18-year-old youth, was committed to the Waltham State Hospital today for 35 days of observation.

Judge Elbridge G. Davis of Malden court issued the order after Atty. Richard C. Sheppard entered not guilty pleas to four shooting counts. Williams was charged with assault and battery with intent to murder Patrolman William Jancsy, Robert Gerrety and Michael O'Donnell, his captors. He was also charged with assault with a dangerous weapon against Jancsy.

Arresting officers said Williams was carrying four $100 bills and 21 $20 bills. Tehy quoted him as saying he intended to go to South Carolina, where he had relatives.

A victim of the fracas, which threw the neighborhood into a turmoil for more than an hour, was Joseph Hureau, 18, brother-in-law of the ex-policeman, who was struck in the back and right arm by shotgun slugs.

Williams resigned from the police force in 1945 after 10 years' service, and had since been employed as a warehouse worker. A month ago his wife, Helen, 34, left him and started divorce proceedings. She took with her the two children, Harry, 12, and Bobby, 3, and went to live with her mother, Mrs. Mary Hureau, in Linden st., Everett.

According to police, Williams drove up to the house at 9:15 a. m. in his 1939 automobile which was crammed with his belongings. With him he also had a 12-gauge double-barrel shotgun and he carried that up the rear stairs to the Hureau apartment and banged on the kitchen door.

Mrs. Hureau hastily slammed the door, locked it, then pushed the washing machine over as a barrier. She ran toward the front of the apartment, crying an alarm to Helen and the children, and woke up her two sons, Thomas Hureau, 19, and Joseph. Just then the gun roared in the back hall and slugs tore holes in the kitchen door panels.

As the two boys were tumbling out of bed a second blast was fired through the door, imbedding slugs in the kitchen walls and floor.

Joseph hurried out to the kitchen and arrived there as a third shell exploded. The flying shot raked his back and one arm.

Dewey, Taft Fly Presidential Balloons in New Territories

By the Associated Press

Two potential candidates for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination moved into new territory today to sound out their chances. Gov. Dewey of New York invaded New England for the first time since his 1944 campaign.

Senator Taft headed for Los Angeles and two important policy speeches in his tour to "Help me make up my mind" whether to seek the nomination.

Officially Dewey went to Springfield to attend the Eastern States Exposition. Unofficially, the trip threw him into contact with GOP governors or their close aides from eight eastern seaboard states.

Elsewhere there were reminders that other Republicans regard the race as still wide open. These included:

1—A declaration by Sen. Capper of Kansas that "all over the United States there are good Americans who look forward to the possibility of helping elect" Gen. Eisenhower as President on a Republican ticket.

STASSEN IN RUNNING

2—Predictions by two other GOP senators, Ball of Minnesota and McCarthy of Wisconsin, that former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, the only avowed candidate, will be a serious contender at the convention.

Eisenhower, who will take over the presidency of Columbia University in New York when he retires next year as Army chief of staff, has insisted that he will have nothing to do with movements to draft him for the nomination. He has not said, however, that he would refuse to run if nominated.

Elsewhere in the Midwest, a spokesman at a GOP state leaders' meeting in Omaha said prospective presidential candidates will get no clues out of their session.

The Midwest Republican State Chairmen's Associaiton assembled for a two-day gathering billed as an attempt to lay the groundwork for a united Midwest front at the Philadelphia convention.

RAPS TAX VETO

In Washington, Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece lashed out anew at President Truman's double veto of the Republican-sponsored tax reduction bill last session.

Contending Mr. Truman has "boasted" that he blocked Congress from "saving the people's money," Reece added in a statement:

Street Clothes OK For Royal Wedding

LONDON, Sept. 15 (AP)—Britain's lords may wear street clothes to Princess Elizabeth's wedding without raising an eyebrow as the Earl of Clarendon, lord chamberlain, who rules on such matters with the advice of King George, announced:

"The dress for those attending the ceremony in Westminster Abbey will be: Ladies—morning dress with hats; gentlemen—morning dress, lounge suits or service dress."

Customarily, guests at such royal ceremonies wear court dress or full dress uniforms, but court clothes in many cases are moth eaten and clothes rationing prohibits replacement.

2 Teen-Age Framingham Girls Missing

FRAMINGHAM, Sept. 15—Two Framingham girl chums, reported missing when they failed to return home early today, were being sought by State troopers and police throughout the State today.

The girls, Marilene Robie, 16, and Hope Hopkins, 14, both of Water st., in the Saxonville section, left the former's home early last evening and were last seen walking toward Framingham Center.

Hope's mother, Mrs. Joseph C. Vernier, reported the girls as missing shortly after 1 a. m. today when her daughter failed to return home and she learned that the Robie girl also still was absent.

Hope was described as 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighing 112 pounds, with black hair. She was dressed in a green and white dress, black suit coat and red shoes.

The Robie girl is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 114 pounds. She has black hair. Description of her clothing was not available immediately.

Big Mo to Speak Up for Truman

ABOARD U. S. S. MISSOURI, Sept. 15 (AP)—President Truman gets a chance today to see this battleship's mighty 16-inch guns in action. Twelve rounds have been ordered fired in five salvos from No. 1 turret of the main battery.

Two planes will be catapulted from the Missouri to spot the fire. A battery commander of the 129th Field Artillery in World War I, Mr. Truman showed a keen interest in preparations for the target practice.

The Missouri today was approximately 600 miles from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

'Fountain of Youth' Clinic Treats 5000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (INS)—Five thousand Californians were reported to be going regularly to a Los Angeles clinic to receive serum injections which eventually may prolong life upward of 100 years.

The story of the drug and its possibilities is told in Pathfinder magazine.

The drug known as ACS—or anti-reticular cytotoxi serum—was discovered by the late Dr. Alexander Bogolometz, Soviet scientist, whose research was centered on why some persons reached a ripe old age without suffering the ordinary ailments which affected others.

Pathfinder said that Bogolometz discovered a new clue to longevity in the reticulo-endothelial cells which pass nourishment to and return excretions from the body's working cells.

The function of the new serum was described as stimulating the activity of the "R-E" cells to ward off general physical deterioration known as old age.

The serum is being administered in Los Angeles by Dr. Harry Goldblatt, former Western Reserve University scientist who is to head a new medical research institute at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in the West Coast city.

Goldblatt, however, has made plain that the treatment is no long-life guarantee. He was reported to believe the serum has had at least a mild tonic effect on some of the patients.

Italian Peace Pact in Effect At Midnight

PARIS, Sept. 15 (AP)—Britain, France, Russia and the United States deposited instruments of ratification for the Italian peace treaty with the French government today and fixed midnight as the official hour of the beginning of peace for Italy.

Treaties written by the Allies for Finland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria were to be activated in similar fashion during the day by deposit of ratification instruments in Moscow.

Meanwhile, inhabitants of four small districts of the Italian Alps, awarded to France in the Italian treaty, were voting whether they wanted to be French. The French constitution prohibits the integration of any territory without the consent of the inhabitants. The area includes 5000 residents.

On Italy's eastern frontier Yugoslav troops will move forward from the Morgan Line to the new border with Italy at dawn tomorrow. Yugoslavia obtained approximately 3000 square miles of the Istrian peninsula, with 500,000 population.

Yugoslavia also will move troops into the Trieste Free Territory for temporary occupation duties with British and American units.

Dad Surrenders Boy, 14, Accused Of Killing Cousin

HARRISON, N. J., Sept. 15 (INS)—Fred Smigelski, 14, of Newark, was accused today of the kidnap-slaying of his invalid distant cousin, Jackie Preston, 11, of Kearny, to prove he wasn't a "sissy."

Newark FBI agents said the boy signed a confession stating his mother made him do girl's work such as dishwashing and dusting, so he killed Jackie to prove his superiority.

The smaller boy's nude and battered body was found last night in a Harrison factory storeroom.

No charge has been lodged against the youthful slayer, who was to be arraigned in Harrison police court today.

Jackie Preston

Fred Smigelski

Investigators said he was trapped when his mother, Mrs. Walter Smigelski, found an original draft of the ransom note sent to the slain boy's father, John Preston, a truck driver.

They said he plotted the crime while in school. He is in the eighth grade.

The Smigelski boy's grief-stricken father surrendered him to the FBI in Newark after the boy confessed writing a ransom demand for $1000 in which he bragged of torturing Jackie.

HATED COUSIN

Police quoted him as saying he killed the younger boy, who had been suffering from heart trouble and lockjaw, "because I hated him." They said he admitted writing his crude ransom note after the victim was dead.

Jackie, a fourth grade pupil at St. Stephen's parochial school, Kearny, had heart trouble resulting from an attack of scarlet fever, and also had been receiving penicillin when lockjaw and a high fever developed from an infected tooth.

GET RANSOM NOTE

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Preston, were frightened he might have died from his illnesses after he disappeared to play in Town Hall park Friday. Then came the ransom note written in a childish scrawl on ruled school note paper. The note said:

"If you want your son black you get $1000 one thous. bring a clearn shirt, paint shoes, underware and a good supporter, a small one that will fit him tight as he has a slight case of rupture. We did it. He'll have the worst if you don't do as we say."

The note gave directions to go to First and Sussex sts. where a "hired" boy who knew nothing about the case would accept the bundle of clothes and money. It continued:

"Don't go to the police or we'll kill him . . . Don't ask the boy any questions. Just give it to him at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon four bells p. m. and you have Jackie back at 6 p. m. No funny stuff."

WEEN-END IN FLUE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—It was a long week-end for 6-year-old Henry Bishop, Jr. The Negro boy spent 17 hours of it wedged inside a chimney.

Playing on the roof, Henry slipped 15 feet down the unused chimney late Saturday. He yelled until tired, then went to sleep. A neighbor heard him yesterday, and police chopped through a wall to extricate him.

"Are you hurt?" the rescuers asked.

"Nope," replied Henry. "Just hungry."

Lovelorn Girl Ruled Suicide

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 15—Following the suicidal death of a local girl in a plunge off a waterfront dock, relatives disclosed today she was the victim of an unhappy romance and was so heartbroken she had refused to go back to her old job for the past three weeks.

The body of Miss Harriet Muise, 25, of Maplewood ave. was found floating off a wharf by Walter Blair of Main st. A verdict of suicide by drowning was reported by Medical Examiner John J. Egan.

Police said she went to the home of an aunt, Mrs. Evelyn Muise, in Howe sq., jumped 20 feet from a bathroom window and then dragged herself 100 yards to the dock.

GIRL GUN VICTIM IMPROVES

Elizabeth Nelson, 15, of Clinton st., Lynn, was recovering today at Lynn Hospital from a gunshot wound in the left shoulder. The girl's father, Arthur Nelson, told police she was examining a revolver when it was accidentally discharged.

Plan Hub Rites for Rich Bride Killed in Tumble at N. Y. Hotel

Falling from the window of her 15th-floor honeymoon suite at a fashionable New York hotel, Mrs. Virginia Simonds Porter, 44, of Prince st., Jamaica Plain, reputedly one of Boston's wealthiest women, died shortly afterward at Lenox Hill Hospital.

The body was to be brought to Boston today, and funeral services were being planned to be held from the victim's home here.

The services are tentatively scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, but final details are to be announced.

Mrs. Porter was the former wife of Alvan T. Simonds, millionaire president of the Simonds Saw & Steel Co., Fitchburg, who died in 1941.

The tragedy occurred at a Park ave. hotel Saturday when the bride became ill and went to the open window of the honeymoon suite for air. She toppled from the window and fell one story to the fourteenth floor extension.

Word of the honeymoon tragedy came as a terrific shock to friends of the wealthy widow who said that although they knew she planned to wed Porter, the details of last week's ceremony in New York had been kept secret from all except a few intimates.

Simonds, who was 64 at the time of his death, was 26 years senior to his wife. In addition to the income from one-half his huge stock holdings in the Simonds Saw and Steel Co., and one-third of his million-dollar estate, Simonds left his widow yachts, automobiles, furnishings and jewelry, the latter alone estimated as worth more than $100,000.

Ask Cut in Vote Districts To 29 for Essex County

Reduction of Essex County's representative districts from 30 to 29 was recommended today to State Secy. Frederic W. Cook by a special redisttricting commission headed by Rep. Russell P. Brown of of Beverly.

The new alignment of the country's districts as proposed by the commission, appointed by Gov. Bradford, would eliminate two State representatives, one Democratic and one Republican.

Democratic Rep. Colin L. Cameron, of Amesbury, would be eliminated by the combining of several towns and city wards now represented by three men into a district having two representatives.

The proposed district, made up of Amesbury, Essex, Georgetown, Ipswich, Newbury, Rowley, West Newbury and Wards 6, 7, and 8 of Gloucester would be predominantly Republican.

In another alignment, which would eliminate Republican Rep. Arthur B. Carney, of Salem, the commission proposes combination of Wards 2, 4 and 6 of Salem with five heavily Democratic wards, the district to be represented by one man.

The proposal would not eliminate a district, as it merely shifts the three wards from one district to another.

The commission had been instructed to reduce the number of districts in the county since increases in Essex population were not in proportion to those in other counties.

SHE MADE A DECISION—Sheila Hynes, 19-year-old English girl who cancelled her engagement to Carl Wesch (right) of Brooklyn and came to New York to marry his friend, Harold Conley (left), today is married to her original choice. All three are shown shortly after Sheila arrived aboard the Queen Elizabeth last month. At that time, Wesch said, "May the best man win."

20 Lost in Sinking Of Glasgow Cutter

GLASGOW Scotland, Sept. 15 (AP)—Twenty persons, mostly women or children, were dead or missing and feared lost today in the sinking of the excursion boat Ocean in the Firth of Clyde.

SURE SNEEZE CURE

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 15 (AP)—Charles Brooks found out yesterday how to stop an attack of the sneezes.

Driving along a city street he was seized with a sneezing spell so violent he lost control of his car. It climbed 10 feet up a telephone pole guy wire—and stayed there.

Brooks wasn't hurt—nor was he sneezing any more.

Clue to Longer Life Span Found in Queen Bee's Diet

By GABRIEL DE SABATINO

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (INS)—The American Chemical Society was told today man may live longer, thanks to the food by which the queen bee outlives her subjects.

Dr. Thomas S. Gardner, of the science department of Hoffman-La Roche, Nutley, N. J., reported to the society's 112th annual meeting that pantothenic acid, the antigray hair vitamin, is a prime longevity factor in the royal jelly on which the queen bee feeds.

Dr. Gardner disclosed two other royal jelly components, sodium yeast nucleate and pyridoxin, or vitamin B-6, also help to prolong life. He said:

"The application of this work to human beings has not been accomplished yet. However, this work will probably intensify effor on pantothenic acid, pyridoxin, and sodium yeast nucleate in research work on ageing."

Dr. Gardner reported he increased the life span of flies up to 46 per cent by combining these three substances with a fourth royal jelly constituent, biotin, another B-complex vitamin.

The study of royal jelly has thrown light on the puzzling contrast between the queen bee's life span of about five years and the average worker's three months.

Bread prices, still unchanged, may have to be boosted, some of the large bakeries said, as they cannot absorb the rising costs of bread ingredients.

Frankly admitting that no solution to high prices has as yet become apparent since certain basic causes seem unchangeable, Sen. Flanders said his committee would make every effort to uncover ways to bring prices down.

Flanders did say, however, that the restoration of wartime allocation of diverting grain from large-scale usage by distillers might be necessary to halt further rise of the nation's grain prices.

The congressional committee investigating prices has blamed the present situation on the fact that the corn crop is smaller, thus making meat prices high; the shipment of food to Europe, and the fact that more people are working.

How Deafened People Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionship. Accepted by the American Medical Association's Council on Physical Therapy. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 22, 1450 West 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. Hub Bandit Hunted In $2747 Holdup

Roxbury police were searching today for a robber who took $1947 in cash and $800 in checks from Saul Carnam, 41, of Blue Hill ave., Roxbury, a few feet from the night deposit box of the First National Bank branch at Washington and Dudley sts.

Carnam, manager of a chain store, said he put the night's receipts in a paper bag and walked three blocks to the bank. The man pressed a blunt object against his back and seized the paper bag.

Carnam found Patrolman John J. Donnelly just around the corner, but the bandit had vanished.

Churchill Back Soon, Says Solon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (INS)—Sen. Buck (R.) of Deleware predicted Winston Churchill will return to power in England before long and rally the British to a new program of "sweat and work."

Buck said Great Britain's first need is to "put in power a government which can cope with the economic crisis it is said she faces." He said the socialistic government of Prime Minister Attlee seems to have botched the job.

The Senator, speaking on the "Palmer from Washington" broadcast, declared:

"Churchill can rally his people to do those things that should be done—and which the present government seems loath to do, or incompetent of achieving."

Infant in Hospital After 80-MPH Trip

Rushed to Boston over the road under special police escort eight hours after birth, Daniel J. Laforme infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Laforme of Skowhegan Me., was under emergency treatment today at Children's Hospital to correct an acute intestinal obstruction.

The mercy car, driven by Mrs. Verna Horne of West Front st., Skowhegan, started the trip to Boston shortly after the baby had been baptized, and traveled over slippery highways at speeds reaching 80 miles an hour.

Riding with Mrs. Horne were the infant's father, Clifford, and three other relatives, Mr. and Mrs. John Walla and Miss Irene Laforme.

Maine State Police escorted the party through Maine and New Hampshire, and a Massachusetts State Police cruiser took over at the New Hampshire line and escorted the car to the hospital.

SICK-OF PAY

TOKYO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Tired of scanty pay, 28 of Japan's 650 public prosecutors have left their jobs this year. In typical Japanese fashion, all claimed ill health, but privately they said:

"We just can't make a go of it on 1600 yen ($32) a month."

Authorities said they feared more would quit, adding to the difficulty of enforcing criminal law.

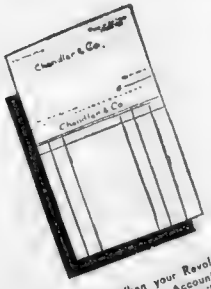
YOU decide how much you wish to pay us each month . . .
WE arrange your continuous revolving budget account . . .
The Account expressly for YOUR needs, YOUR family, YOUR income . . .
YOU make no payments until you have made purchases . . .

A convenient purchase account whereby you can charge your purchases and take months to pay. No down payments—just visit our credit office (if you can't come in use the coupon below)—then when you shop present your SPECIAL IDENTIFICATION PLATE.



We will send you a bill each month showing the amount of each purchase, payment, credits, the small 1% credit service charge, your balance and the amount due.

When your Revolving Budget Account is opened you will receive a special identification plate. Just hand it to any sales person in making a purchase.

If you can't come in immediately or if you wish to have your Revolving Budget Account opened, just fill out the blank below —mail to our Credit Department—and we will send you the necessary application to fill out.

. . . and larger amounts if you wish

You might ask us these questions:

Suppose I decide I would like to pay 15.00 a month, what will my credit limit be?
ANSWER: A continuous 90.00, six times 15.00.

Suppose on a credit limit of 90.00 I owe 45.00, how much do I pay each month?
ANSWER: You pay only 15.00 each month, plus one cent for every dollar of your balance. You pay less if you owe less than the monthly payment.

Suppose I buy 90.00, my credit limit the first month, then pay 15.00 on account, do I have to wait until the remaining 75.00 is paid before I can buy again?
ANSWER: Definitely no. As soon as you pay 15.00 you may charge 15.00 more. Remember the name, "Revolving Budget Account." You may continually charge the difference between what you owe and your established credit.

Suppose I wish to raise or lower my credit limit, can it be done?
ANSWER: Certainly it may. Just call at our credit office and arrangements will be made.

Suppose I have a regular charge account and wish a Revolving Budget Account also, is this possible?
ANSWER: No. A Revolving Budget Account is designed for those who have a strict monthly budget.

Suppose I have a regular charge account and wish to change it to a Revolving Budget Account, is this possible?
ANSWER: YES. If monthly payments as above outlined will suit your budget more conveniently.

Whose voice do you want to hear tonight?

Perhaps you'll be talking with your mother — who lives in another state. Your husband — on a business trip. Your daughter — away from home for the first time.

Or maybe it's your big family evening with the radio.

You know, of course, that bringing you the voices you like to hear—by telephone—is our job. But did you also know that many of the voices you hear by radio come 99.5% of the way over telephone lines? For example, a Hollywood broadcast travels here to New England over some 3200 miles of telephone wire to your local radio station where it is beamed the last few miles direct to your home.

Whether voices come to you by radio, or telephone, the constant aim of Bell Laboratories' research is to bring them more clearly and surely than ever before.

Such developments as radio relay systems and co-axial cable were created primarily to improve long distance telephoning, but they also hold great promise for the frequency modulation and television networks of the future.

Hollywood Red Probers to Fight Ridicule

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of the House committee on un-American activities will meet with his staff early this week to map out the details for the public hearing on Communism in Hollywood scheduled to open here Sept. 23.

The committee's main concern is to prevent a recurrence of the Brewster-Hughes hearing, which degenerated into a virtual circus.

The calling as witnesses before the Thomas committee of a score of famous screen stars with high voltage glamor appeal poses a problem.

NOTABLE WITNESSES

The committee does not want the camera appeal of its witnesses to overshadow the serious goal of inquiring into Communist influences in Hollywood.

Those from the film colony who are expected to supply the most important anti-Red testimony include Gary Cooper, Robert Montgomery, Robert Taylor, Adolphe Menjou, Richard Arlen, Mrs. Lela E. Rogers, mother of Ginger Rogers; and writers John Charles Moffitt and Rupert Hughes.

Charlie Chaplin, pro-Communist film comedian, scheduled to be a witness, has already opened a one-man campaign of ridicule against the House committee.

Chaplin's film "Monsieur Verdoux" will run at a Washington theater during the hearings. He asserted:

"It is no ironical coincidence that my comedy also opens in the nation's capital less than 24 hours after Rep. J. Parnell Thomas begins his probe into asserted Communistic film activities."

"SMEAR" BARRAGE

The Communist press has also opened a "smear" barrage against the House committee's investigation of Hollywood Reds.

The committee's project also faces the opposition of the Motion Picture Producers Ass'n, of which Eric Johnston is president.

The case of Hans Eisler, Hollywood composer, and brother of Gerhart Eisler, Comintern representative, will open the hearings.

Power Failure Dims 5000 Medford Homes

Electrical power was being restored today to more than 5000 homes in the Medford area, where service was disrupted when a high-tension cable fell and short-circuited several other power lines.

The cable fell at Webster st. and Brookview rd., cutting off power from the Lawrence Estate section, the Fulton Heights area and the Fellsway. Firemen rushed portable lighting equipment to the Jewish Community Center in Water st., so that the Rosh Hashonah services might continue.

LOWELL, Sept. 15—Victim of a fall down a flight of stairs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Masse in Tremont st., where she was visiting with another nun, Sister St. Carmel, 51, of the Sisters of St. Anthony Order of Canada, was fatally injured.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—Several stores have advertised dusts and sprays for sale now. Would it be wise to buy in a supply for next year?

A—No. Spray materials lose much of their value if held over the winter. New formulas may be out that are better than we have now.

Q — Can potted strawberry plants be set out now?

A—They can still be set provided they are watered well to encourage good growth. Set plants about one foot each way, as no runners will form at this late date.

Q—Can parsley be moved in to the home for the winter?

A—Parsley can be lifted and replanted in pots or inside window boxes. It is hardy and not affected by disease.

Q—Can well rotted manure be used on a piece of land that we plan to grow tomatoes on next year?

A—This material should work out very well as it will increase the nitrogen content of the soil and help to prevent blossom end rot.

Q—Can green tomatoes be ripened in a shed or must they have bright sun?

A—Tomatoes will ripen in a dark room provided the temperature is not too low. For home use, use vine ripened tomatoes as long as possible even if they crack slightly.

Rabbi Cohon Endorses UN In Rosh Hashonah Address

The holy season of Judaism, lasting from now until Oct. 7, was being observed today with Rosh Hashonah, the Hebrew New Year, marking the advent of the year 5708. The New Year will be observed for two days by Orthodox Jews and for one day by Reformed Jews.

Speaking at Temple Sinai, Brookline, Rabbi Beryl D. Cohon urged Jews to rally behind the United Nations commission report that recommends the partitioning of Palestine into one Jewish and one Arab state.

"In the opinion of the commission, the creation of a Jewish state alongside an Arab state is the most promising solution. We therefore, I submit, should rally behind the report, despite the mental reservations we may have, and work, hope and pray for, its successful implementation.

"The crucial issue today is how to salvage Palestinian Jewry itself and how to find homes for the tragic survivors of Hitler's death factories.

"The report is a compromise—no doubt the best compromise that could be achieved under frightfully complicated circumstances."

'Miss Freedom'

Enthroned—Pretty Audell McCanley, of Drexel Hill, Pa., dressed in her royal robes, sits atop a throne, guarded by a Marine, soldier and sailor, after being named "Miss Freedom" in Philadelphia.

Historic Implements—Quills and inkwells used by signers of the Constitution are on exhibit for sightseers at Independence Hall in Philadelphia and inspecting them is 15-year-old Lois McCullough, Philadelphia high school student. Constitution Day will be celebrated in the Hub on Wednesday at Boston Common and Charlestown Navy Yard.

Confident—Optimistic over his chances of acquittal in the yacht slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell, Bud Gollum (second from left) talks with newsmen in his cell at the Santa Ana, Cal., jail. Gollum told newsmen of plans he and Louise Overell, his co-defendant, are making for after the trial.

Striped Bass Fishermen—Three fishermen stand on the shore at Martha's Vineyard, getting their casting eyes in trim for the month-long Striped Bass Derby starting today. They are the vanguard of an estimated 2000 fishermen who will compete for 400 prizes ranging from a steel fishing cruiser down to rods, reels and other fishing equipment.

THE LOYALTY TESTS

THE LOYALTY TESTS now being conducted by various agencies of the Federal Government with the avowed intent of barring disloyal persons from Federal employment, while of somewhat dubious effect, are certainly innocent of the hysterical charge that they place the political and personal reputations of innocent people in unwarranted jeopardy.

The opposite is true of the charge itself.

There is none of the aspects of innocence to the campaign of vilification that has been conducted against the Federal agencies in connection with the tests, particularly against the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Mr. Clyde A. Tolson, associate director of the Bureau, put the record straight concerning this phase of the program in a recent radio network broadcast.

"I know that some of the opposition which has arisen to the loyalty program in many instances comes from well-meaning but misinformed persons," said Mr. Tolson.

"But others who raise the cry of 'witch hunts' and the bugaboo of 'Gestapo' have more sinister reasons.

"They are determined to smear the Federal Bureau of Investigation and what it stands for—the preservation of our democratic way of life.

"There is no cause for hysteria, except on the part of those who have something to conceal."

Since the whole purpose of the loyalty program, as Mr. Tolson comments, is to be pursued "in keeping persons disloyal to our form of government out of the Federal service," he logically suggests that "loyal employes will have nothing to fear, but will be removed from suspicion once the disloyal ones are weeded out."

IN SHORT, THE LOYALTY PROGRAM, AND THE TESTS BEING CONDUCTED UNDER IT, DO NOT CONSTITUTE AN INSTRUMENT FOR THE DISPARAGEMENT OF CHARACTER OR INFRINGEMENT UPON CIVIL RIGHTS, BUT DO IN FACT CONSTITUTE A MEANS BY WHICH THE LOYAL EMPLOYE FINDS BOTH SECURITY IN EMPLOYMENT AND FREEDOM FROM SUSPICION — CONDITIONS OF TENURE WHICH ARE ENTIRELY UNATTAINABLE IN A STRUCTURE OF FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT FROM WHICH DISLOYAL PERSONS CAN BE NEITHER EJECTED NOR BARRED.

The loyalty program has admittedly proved deficient in many respects, most notably in the trifling number of dismissals it has obtained so far among the large number of disloyal persons known to have highly remunerative and responsible employment in Federal service.

But it is wholly innocent of any deficiency with respect to the recognition and protection of civil rights and personal integrity—and in fact it has probably leaned so far in this direction that it has tended to raise barriers of artificial rights and integrities behind which disloyal employes take refuge, and which stultify its own usefulness.

SPEAK UP!

WHAT IS the matter with our New England public officials? Where is their courage? Whom, besides themselves, do they think they are fooling?

President Truman, Secretary of Defense Forrestal and many other Administration leaders have expressed hope that Passamaquoddy, one of the world's greatest hydroelectric power sources, may be revived to permit the establishment of large-scale industries in New England and to enable the section to make a more substantial contribution to the nation's economy.

But how much help are the New England Governors, United States Senators, Congressmen and State Legislators giving the project? Of whom are they afraid? Isn't silence on a matter of this kind a convincing indication that officials are not particularly interested in creating new industries and employment opportunities?

Let all New England public officials speak up. If they are against 'Quoddy, let them have the courage and honesty to say so.

SO BEER IS to be raised to 15 cent a glass. The question has arisen in discussions among beer enthusiasts: How large will the glass be? It is my understanding the current glass of beer retailing for a dime averages eight ounces. The 15 cent glass will average 10 ounces. Young Old Timers view this situation with many sighs and much sorrowful shaking of the head. Most of them recall when it was possible to get a 42 ounce schooner of beer for a nickel.

SIDELIGHTS: The Howard Johnson chain of eateries offers patrons the choice of 28 different ice cream flavors. This is claimed to be the American record . . . Shirley Temple wants to play Juliet. So it is reported. It is all right with me. Wonder who Shirley has in mind to play Romeo? . . . Idaho is already famous for the size of its potatoes. I now note it stated that in some Idaho lakes the average rainbow trout weighs 22 pounds. That certainly is a lot of trout.

SOME JUDGE: That Pennsylvania jurist, Judge E. E. Crepps, continues to throw the book at persons found guilty of driving an automobile while inebriated. Judge Crepps recently sentenced one William Ray, Indiana, Pa., to six months in the Allegheny County workhouse for "operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor." In addition to the six months at hard labor, Ray was compelled to pay court costs of $15.75 and a $250 fine!

HORSES & WOMEN: A captious critic of the female sex takes the ladies to task for their "incessant chattering regarding styles, especially as to the length of skirts and the varying styles of hairdos." Perhaps our feminine friends are currently somewhat overdoing the discussion of the subjects mentioned by this old boy. This excess conversation as to the comparatively trivial matters of life may be a reaction to the deadly serious things it was found necessary to discuss during the war. However, it is a good sign when a woman is intensely interested in style, hairdos, etc. It shows her interest in life is still at the peak. As some observant person once observed: "When a woman ceases to be concerned as to the fashion of her hair, it is an indication she has passed the crisis of her experience." In other words such a woman is over the hill. Old rocking chair is about to get her.

TEETH? As previously reported here, Dr. Stephen A. Ferlita, of Atlanta, Ga., claims to have on many occasions succeeded in the replantation of teeth. Dr. Ferlita's claim has greatly aroused dentists in every section of the country. Everywhere doctors of dental science are reported as hitting the ceiling. They are really steamed up. Some of the dentists are calling Dr. Ferlita very nasty names. In addition, they are stating that replantation of teeth is dangerous. For example, a group of Atlanta dentists stated that replantation of teeth "almost caused the death of Gen. John J. Pershing." Nevertheless, Dr. Ferlita and also Dr. Good, of New York City, continue to stand their ground. They say they have been successful with teeth replantation and can prove it.

ASKING Queries from clients. Q—Once more you refer to Babe Ruth as the "third greatest baseball player of all time." Who are the first two? A—1. Hans Wagner. 2. Ty Cobb. Q—Do you actually smoke stogies? A. I certainly do. I cut them in half and use them for a short smoke. Very nice. Q—When I call on the No 1 woman in my life, one of those brown-eyed honey blondes, I like to bring her a little gift. I am running out of ideas. Have some your horses & women files a gift suggestion department? A—Our H. & W. experts have no detailed gift suggestions. Their general suggestion is "Give her something to remember you by." Something that will last for some time. Pay close attention to the young woman's conversation. Study her tastes. This will enable you to present her with things she will think a lot of and accordingly judge you to be a man of unusual taste and discernment. Or, so say our horses and women experts.

PASSING BY: Herman Daldin, Chain hotel executive. Ton man of the Milnor outfit, which controls 171 hotels in 48 states. I am an old hotel man myself. As a young fellow I worked as a hotel clerk. I liked the hours, from 6 a. m. to 12 noon and from 6 p. m. to midnight one day, and from 12-noon to 6 p. m. the next day. These hours gave you a chance to see a ball game or go to the race track. On the next day you could sleep in the morning and go to a show at night. Not bad, what?

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—The Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives has redressed some clumsy errors done by its predecessor, the so-called Dies Committee, and has become, on achievement, a valuable body of the national legislature.

Westbrook Pegler

By the initiative and diligence of this committee, a number of the most dangerous enemies of the United States have been sent to prison on various charges arising out of their treachery as Communists or in collusion with the Communist conspiracy.

Several thousands of alien spies and provocateurs and American traitors who, in the role of Red Quislings, collaborated with them have been catalogued in a permanent directory in relation to one another and to the hundreds of Communist fronts.

This is an invaluable record the like of which no other Government bureau thought to prepare. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has its own copies of the committee reports and relies on them in its current anti-Communist activity.

THE FBI WAS firmly restrained as long as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt exercised power in the White House in the role of wife of the one whom she blandly and sincerely spoke of as our "ruler."

The Communist desk of the Navy was abolished early in our war and the rule of the Army excluding Communists and their feather from the commissioned ranks was revoked.

THE FBI HAS consulted the records of the Dies Committee, now known as the Thomas Committee, ever since these inquiries began.

The Departments of State, War and Navy have made equally free with the files.

MARTIN DIES, the Congressman who was chairman of the special committee, suffered much for his country.

He was a Texas country boy who knew nothing of the tricks of the organizers of leagues, committees, councils and congresses, and they led him through many a briar patch before he learned.

However, he got him a stack of books and studied his lessons by lamplight with Mrs. Dies, the both of them exclaiming from time to time, "Can such things be?"

He also had the good fortune to get him a chief investigator named J. B. Matthews, who had once been a true-loving Bolshevik and therefore knew all the enemy's methods and, more important, knew thousands of Communists, overt and covert, by personal acquaintance.

Matthews, a Ph.D., known as Doc, got his degree in Vienna for study in Sanskrit, of all things. He might be a fine authority on Henry William's adventures in the supernormal state with Nick Roerich, but for a wicked impulse which gave him one night to pluck a sprig from the two-legged beard of the old keeper of the joss-house whose drooling disciples regarded him as a deity.

DOC MATTHEWS WENT UP to the jossery on Riverside Drive for a seance this night and, being a scholar in Oriental voodoo adept in blowing smoke rings through his ears, took one look at the guru and busted out laughing.

Roerich recognized him then as a fellow-professional and keeper of the secrets and, out of the side of his mouth, passed him the confidential word, "ix-nay acking-cray ithway all esethay umpchays around."

This is Sanskrit for "Jiggers, Pal, no wisecracks with all these chumps around." But the Doc clapped his hands and hollered for a bowl of gung-fung with narrow-gauge noodles, chop-chop!

They didn't exactly throw him out, but nobody was trying to detain him when he left.

AFTER DOC GOT FED UP with the Bolsheviki, he rigged up a two-passenger lamasery of his own on a hilltop in the Jersey wilds, and it was there that a New York flycop, working as investigator for the Dies Committee, found him one summer afternoon, leaping from crag to crag in short pants, and offered him the job of chief investigator.

The cop said the Doc was an authentic museum side-hill dodger with one leg shorter than the other and claims that when he saluted him, uttering a string of beads, a dime-store mirror and a swatch of red flannel, the Doc yelled "Revenooers, Maw!" and scuttled up the branch.

Doc says the cop is just an old liar and that, in fact, this particular afternoon he had a shirt on and a necktie handy on the knob of the door.

Anyway, that is how Doc Matthews came to be chief investigator for the Dies Committee and if you will meet me here tomorrow, I will tell you some more, but come alone and do not try to play me false. Tell them—

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1947, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15 — There's never been a play on Broadway that had more Hollywood producers bidding than "Born Yesterday," but Garson Kanin's $1,000,000 price for his hit play, which is in its 84th week on Broadway, staggered even the most optimistic of our boys. However, Columbia has made a deal with Kanin and Max Gordon, the producers, which calls for $100,000 down and the rest in payments over a period of years, the total sum being kept a secret by Harry Cohn.

Rita Hayworth

Rita Hayworth gets the girl role which Jean Arthur originated and Judy Holiday finished. It's a swell part and I'll bet a cooky if Harry tries hard enough he can get Humphrey Bogart to play the Paul Douglas role. Bogey wanted to play it so much that he tried to buy "Born Yesterday" himself.

ROBERT WALKER has appealed to MGM to let him have six months' rest away from Hollywood and the screen. His health is so bad, he told his bosses, that he feels it is imperative for him to get away for a complete change of scene.

His request was granted, even though "State of the Union," in which he plays one of the top roles, is ready to go before the cameras and it means finding an actor to replace him.

Bob's health has been the cause of worry for a long time to his friends and studio.

MERLE OBERON returned home Saturday with a fractured jaw. Her physician immediately wired the jaw. She is unable to talk and of course will be out of her picture, "Berlin Express," for at least six weeks.

Part of the picture was made in Germany. Her husband, Lucien Ballard, who came home with her, talked for Merle today. He said she actually fractured her jaw over a week ago when she bumped her chin on a railing aboard the Queen Mary.

Her mouth was sore, but she had no inkling that the jaw was fractured until an X-ray revealed the extent of her injuries.

WHEN I SAID I couldn't see Angela Lansbury in the role of the woman publisher in "State of the Union," I got a big argument from MGM, who say Angela is terrific as the wife in "If Winter Comes."

I didn't mean that the English-born Lansbury gal doesn't have talent. I think she has definite talent, but she didn't seem to be right for this part.

Angela was a little disgusted with her movie career and had gone to New York to stay when word came to turn right around and come back. Her friends expect to hear of her engagement to Peter Shaw any day.

AS I WAS GETTING in the elevator at MGM a few days ago, whom should I meet but Linda Christians, who is back from Mexico City. She was wearing only one brooch out of her fabulous jewel collection. My, she's a pretty girl. She told me she was going to Switzerland to put her sister in school.

Linda, who is under contract to MGM, has spent most of her time in the past few years in Mexico, where at one time she was the heart of an important and rich Mexican. But now that's all off, and Turhan Bey, and she are inseparable. They were at Ciro's together on her first night home.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Rita Rend, beautiful daughter of Mrs. Mervyn Le Roy and Ernie Byfield, is seen everywhere these days with Jimmy Ritz.

Let me say that Rita's mother is being very smart. Kitty knows if she frowns on this May-and-December romance, Rita, like all young girls, will take it seriously and think she's in love. Not that Kitty has anything against Jimmy Ritz. He is really a very sweet person but he's old enough to be Rita's father, and besides, she is much too young to consider any romance.

Sylvia Fine, Danny Kaye's wife, reports to Warners tomorrow as associate producer, to start work in preparation of Danny's first Warner picture. In spite of their separation, she will continue to be a member of the Kaye Company and will write most of his stuff.

Friends who hoped and hoped that the Kayes would reconcile, now believe it looks hopeless. Dannie is still making frequent calls on Eve Arden, and whispers still insist she will be the next Mrs. Kaye.

The big $64 question is—will Charlie Chaplin be on hand for the opening of "Monsieur Verdoux" in Washington, Sept. 25? That's the day following the launching of the un-American activities committee hearing.

For months it has been whispered that Charlie would be called for the hearing, but he says he has not yet been subpoenaed. Russell Birdwell, his P. A., has gone ahead to set the stage for "Verdoux," which so far has only played in New York, and maybe the stage for Chaplin in the un-American hearing.

Attention, Dallas, Texas! Looks like a heart-wave struck your town. Dorothy Maline, who just finished making "Two Guys from Texas," reports six proposals of marriage she received from Dallas men while she was vacationing there last month. She lists the gentlemen as Walter Helmerick, a Harvard student; Ralph Belknapp, an engineer; Dr. George Jones, physician; Charles Storey, attorney; Carlisle Blaylock, insurance executive, and Thornton Howell, air freight executive.

Dottie, how modest can a gal be?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: It's a nine-pound baby boy for Mary Howard and Alfred Dellaire—and there's great rejoicing in the Howard family. Telegrams went to Mrs. Brian Aherne and to Mary's mother, who lives here, with the good news.

Has the romance of Hedy Lamarr and Mark Stevens hit a snag? That's what the talk is around town.

You needn't be surprised if Pat Smart and Spencer Martin, socialites, announce their engagement. He admits he's madly in love with her. To all questions Pat says she's making no decision until she gets well again. She's just had an operation.

The Pancho Figueroas welcomed a daughter, Laura Beverly Figueroa, in Mexico City Sept. 3. The name Beverly is in honor of the Beverly Hills Hotel, where they spent their honeymoon.

Faith Domergue is giving her smiles to Hugo Fregonese, South American director. Her divorce from Ted Stauffer, Rita Hayworth's favorite companion in Europe, becomes final very shortly.

Ava Gardner and Howard Duff are the latest Hollywood duo. That Duff must have something the pretty gals all seem to go for him.

Ilona Massey tells me she is not marrying Jay Kurtz, and she ought to know.

Ray Milland and his wife are on their way home from England. While they were away their house was rented and up to now they have no place to go, other than a small house in Balboa.

Mrs. Ray Milland

Lucille Bremer and Rod Rodriguez, son of the former president of Mexico, are an item. He is a test pilot.

The Gail Russell-Guy Madison romance is deader than yesterday's newspaper. She was dining at one of the Strip restaurants with Jack Sasson the other evening, and has been out with many other escorts since she and Guy said adieu to romance.

Barbara Brewster, one of the famous Brewster twins, expects a baby in January. Her husband is Bob Lamonde, radio announcer.

Marie McDonald's mother underwent a minor operation on Friday.

Merle Oberon, Lucien Ballard and Robert Ryan, who were in the "Berlin Express" company, arrived home Saturday. That picture was certainly made in a hurry.

Cary Grant gets here this week. Soon we'll be seeing all our people back.

Broadway's Voice

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—Jacqueline Dalya's new steady beau is Thanoc Tsaldaris, son of the former Greek premier. She used to be Van Johnson's honey . . . The Art Arthurs are lullabying a baby girl—their second. He's the screen writing genius, she was Broadway showgal Jessica Pepper . . . Composer-conductor Leonard Bernstein's matrimonial plans have been cancelled . . . One of Monte Proser's backers is in Chicago to bring back another $150,000, which the Trocadero in Hollywood will need before it can open operations. And look how important Monte is now! The place will be called simply "Monte Proser's" . . . Jerry Mayer, brother of Louis B. and general manager of MGM studios, is reported critically ill in a West Coast hospital . . . Mel Torme and Marilyn Buferd (last year's "Miss America") are swooning . . . Gene Tierney's sister Pat waltzes down the aisle with Elliott Reed on Oct. 11.

CLARK GABLE is dating Dolly O'Brien again . . . Two resignations are expected in President Truman's cabinet . . . Margo, the pretty rumba songstress who was featured for such a long time at Monte Carlo has taken all her money and opened a new business. She's now running—of all things—a funeral parlor! . . . Peggy Hopkins Joyce is doing the town with a lad who is sporting a shiner . . . El Borracho's tables are getting the giggles as the customers sit down to dine. Next to the ash trays are little cards bearing the words "Johnny Meyer sat here" . . . "Tawny Pipit" the British film opened at the Little Carnegie to warm reviews. But the story is that the film critic of a New York daily asked the publicity man for the theater "What is a Tawny Pipit?" It was stated before the opening that the drum theater had to go . . . (It's a bird.)

NOW BING CROSBY wants to buy into a big league pro football team. He has the Washington Redskins at the [illegible]

Steelers in mind . . . Incidentally, do you know what Broadwayites are doing these evenings when they get weary of gin rummy? They play the Bing Crosby Derby game—racetrack thrills right in the parlor . . . Marlon Brando, who has won the role originally offered to John Garfield in the Tennessee Williams play, really loves the theater—the hard way. He's been working as an elevator operator rather than accept parts he didn't "believe in" . . . Nancy Sousa, granddaughter of the famous march king, will trek to the altar with Glenfield T. Young . . . The recording industry hears that Uncle Sam is about to crack down on the "big five" of the disc makers . . . Monopoly will be the charge . . . And speaking of recordings, the thumping you hear in the background of Paul Barron's disc of "The Heartbeat Song" (Majestic) is actually Lana Turner's heart beating. They had a doctor record it with his stethoscope and a microphone.

PHIL SILVERS, who's been knocking himself out for his High Button Shoes part, really did—literally—the other day. Ran headlong into one of the dancers and passed out on the floor . . . Don Ameche was one of the few celebs who cleaned up at Saratoga . . . From Hollywood comes word that brothers Gene and Dick Wesson aren't pals any more. Gene has dropped out of circulation, and Dick is set to tour with the Andy Russell troupe . . . One of the well-known and well-liked film magnates just floated a huge mortgage on his palatial home to raise money to save his studio . . . Does Sherman Billingsley know? There's now a Stork Club in Las Vegas . . . Names of glamorous models get madder and odder. The newest recruit to the Bali zoo School is a miss from Memphis, Tennessee—Carly Flower . . . Frankie Carle's vocalist and daughter, Marilyn Hughes, is carrying the expectant-baby torch . . . Patricia Kelly Patty Brewing in Local 306 of the Music Operators Union. All others, the officers have making "the trains go." Which is perhaps why newer members are dead certain the fact that all pay the same dues and assessments.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15—I was sitting around the swimming pool at the Beverly Hills hotel with a group of theatrical gentlemen when a couple of wooden-kissered individuals came up and identified themselves as Capt. White and Sergt. Alcorn of the homicide squad.

It was nice to know their names, being the only thing about them we hadn't guessed already, because they had copper written all over them. They selected one of our number, a young man named Belden Katelman, and said they craved a few words with him in private.

Mr. Katelman, who isn't used to being snatched by coppers, particularly in bathing trunks, got red in the pan. He tried to smirk it off, however, by saying he was deeply honored but couldn't recall having committed a homicide in weeks.

The gendarmes either didn't think this was funny, or they have a rule against smiling during working hours. With absolutely dead expressions they took young Katelman away. About 20 minutes later he returned, looking somewhat glazed. We demanded to know what it had been all about.

"Well," said Mr. K., "I didn't get it at first. After we got settled they just stared at me for a moment and I got pretty fidgety. Then the older copper—the one who said he was Capt. White—leaned over and whispered:

"'When was the last time you saw the Bug?'

"I said he must be mistaking me for an exterminator. He told me not to be funny—that I knew he meant Bugsy Siegel."

"You mean," I gasped, "that they actually talked like that? 'When was the last time you saw the Bug?' I thought they only talked that way in gangster movies."

"So did I," replied Mr. Katelman. "But those are the exact words. I said it would be impossible to tell them when I had last seen Bugsy Siegel because I had never seen him in my life.

"Then they asked me if it wasn't true that I had tried to buy the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas which the Bug—confound it, they've got me doing it now!—was running at the time he was bumped off. I said I had made an offer for it but the price wasn't right.

"It turned out, however, this wasn't what they were really interested in. They had something else on their minds."

-:-

"You're just a suspicious looking type, that's all," needled Mr. Dave Siegel, producer of Ivan Murray's "Blackouts." "It's perfectly natural that they should grill you."

"You shut up," howled Mr. Katelman. "It's you got me into it!"

"Me?" exclaimed Mr. Siegel. "What have I got to do with you and your hoodlum pals?"

"Your confounded telephone calls. Somehow they got hold of a list of my old calls and they found I had been called every day by Mr. Siegel. They thought it was the Bug—but it was you!"

ALL OF WHICH goes to show that the hunt for the slayers of Mr. Siegel is still very much on. Listen, officer, I used to have a school teacher named Hill, but she wasn't Virginia!

THERE'S NO USE kidding. Although he has been performing since shortly after second Bull Run, Harry Richman is still one of the greatest entertainers in show business.

His big opening at Ciro's the other evening brought out more stars than a clear frosty night in Moose Jaw. After the show Frank Sinatra was discovered moping at the bar. An admirer asked what was wrong.

By George Dixon

"What's a cop?" wailed The Voice. "That Gov. Dickerson is better than one. I've said so!"

MRS. MORRIS CAFRITZ, who is customarily identified by Washington society writers as the capital's No. 2 party-giver, although they tell me she is thinking of demanding a recount, turned up here the other day with more baggage than a baggagemaster, and immediately went visiting.

One of the first spots she hit was the home of Harold Lloyd where an auction to raise funds for the nursery school for visually handicapped children had brought out the works.

Our home town hostess graciously accepted invitations to the beautiful Mrs. Sally Cobb, who had put the skids on her husband, Bob, for most of the free food: Sally Evans, Irene Hervey and her husband Allan Jones. Mrs. Cafritz even lighted as she suddenly spied your correspondent standing inconspicuously with Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington.

"How lovely!" she trilled in her diplomatic way. "How nice, to see two homey faces among all these good-looking people!"

LONG, LONG AGO

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., Sept. 15 (AP)—Workmen tearing down the old Olympic hotel building found a reminder of the dim past. Among old papers was price tag on which was scribbled "T-bone steak, 15 cents a pound."

Marshall Greets Jews of Nation

WASHINGTON, Sept. (AP)—Sec. Marshall last night extended new year's greetings to Americans of Jewish faith. In a message he said:

"I extend my cordial greetings to my countrymen of Jewish faith on the occasion of the commencement of the Jewish new year.

"I'm confident in the hope that you will unitedly support the efforts of this country and of other peace-loving nations and peoples to build a peaceful world based on the principles for which we fought during the war and which are now embodied in the charter of the United Nations."

8 LIVES LEFT

SOUTH WINDHAM, Me., Sept. 15 (AP)—A kitten supposedly killed by other fumes and buried in a box in the back yard was frisking about the home of its puzzled owner again.

Mrs. Ruth Gilman said the kitten had been struck by a falling stone and its hindquarters paralyzed, so she dispatched it, she thought, and buried it. Three days later it returned, and Mrs. Gilman's only theory was that the family dog may have scented the buried animal and dug it up.

THREE JAP PUPILS KILLED

TOKYO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Three primary school children were killed and 11 others seriously injured in the collapse of a pedestrian suspension bridge on Hokkaido.

Assignment: America

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By KENNETH L. DIXON

Distributed by International News Service

Frankly, it's hardly the sort of thing one would expect in Boston.

The headline said: "Boston University Teaches Brides and Brides-to-Be What Every Married Woman Should Know."

The story said, in part:

"Boston University today added to its curriculum a course on marriage for brides and prospective brides only, and offered credit toward a degree to those electing it.

"How to be a successful wife will be taught in 30 lessons, evenings. The course will be given by Dr. Jean C. Mendenhall."

COURSE EXTENDED

I caught a public conveyance out to the university's College of Practical Arts and Letters, and knocked on the door of Room 7.

"Certainly," replied Prof. Edwin M. Robinson, director of the university's evening class division. "Certainly we're offering that course. Fine course, too!"

"As a matter of fact, there's nothing new about the course. It's our well-known marriage course that we've been giving since 1935, but previously it was restricted to our upper-class regular students.

"Now, we're making it available in the evening to other women, including those who are married or contemplating marriage, and business and professional women who are occupied during the day."

ALL POSSIBLE PROBLEMS

The professor outlined the course, stating that it considers all possible marital problems from sex to in-laws and budget economy! Furthermore, he said happily, the reaction to the newspaper stories had been terrific.

"My phone has been ringing all day with would-be enrollees asking questions" he chuckled. "There's no doubt that Boston's brides and would-be brides are interested in the course."

He said experience with the course has indicated there, are many questions which Boston girls will not ask their parents or discuss with their dearest friends. This way, he said, they can treat them in a detached and impersonal manner—"but still get the answers to some highly personal questions!"

SHE'S MARRIED

I asked what sort of a person Dr. Mendenhall might be.

"A fine woman and a fine instructor—been on the university faculty for years," Prof. Robinson said.

"She's happily married and thus has the proper background for such a course. And the students like her. She's pleasant . . . human . . . has a fine sense of humor. Sorry she's away today. Like to have you meet her."

"What happens," I asked. "If a young lady fails to get a passing grade in your marriage course?"

"Well, I guess she'd be just like a girl anywhere else in the country," he said with that irrepressible chuckle. "If she flunked out, there'd be nothing left for her to do except get married."

Criminal Paths To Chair Traced

Four young men died recently on the same night in the electric chair at New York's Sing Sing Prison. In the execution chamber, among the official witnesses, sat Donald A. Laird, internationally known psychologist and lecturer.

As he watched, Laird found himself speculating. Where along the road had the boys first gone wrong? Whose fault was it—their own or society's—that these four now trod the "last mile?" Laird determined to find out.

Laird will tell what he discovered about the young men and their backgrounds in "Four Paths to the Chair," a moving article to be published in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

DOUBLE CHECK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—Somewhere in Georgia a young lady heard that the government is making a loyalty check of its employes.

But she apparently got a garbled version, because she wrote the Treasury:

"I understand the government is to give loyalty checks to its employes.

"I think we deserve them. I worked for the War Dept. two years during the war and I had an excellent efficiency rating during that period.

"Please don't overlook me when the government starts to hand out those checks."

Facials at Home Easy

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

IT MAY NOT BE SO GOOD for the ego . . . but every woman every now and then should take a long and lingering look at her face in a good, unflattering mirror . . . facing the merciless noon daylight. If you have any illusions about your appeal . . . you'll soon know the gospel truth. You'll find out who's kidding whom!

It will probably ruin your disposition for the day if you are out of your 20's . . . but it will rouse you to the need of doing something for the complexion. And that will be good!

Often you'll look at women who are great beauties or vibrant personalities . . . and wonder how in the world they manage to look young AND ageless at their age. So you say to yourself:

"Well, if I had the money to afford expensive facials and the time to give to my beauty, maybe I wouldn't have accordion pleats around the eyes and ridges in my face at 35."

FACIALS FROM A JAR

True enough. Consistent facials do help the face to look younger for a facial is custom-made treatment for the face . . . and, like any made-to-order service, is specific. But you can have a weekly facial in your own home . . . and you won't have to spend salon-prices to get it. You can buy a jar containing many facials for practically half the price . . . and a mask which will rouse circulation, tighten up that crepey skin and give you the same lovely feeling of freshness and exhilaration you'd get under the expert hands of a professional.

This cream mask does more than that. It refines open pores and draws out every bit of grime . . . clearing the skin of blackheads and forestalling eruptions. Once a week give a quiet half hour to your face. It deserves and needs that much attention of specialized care. This facial mask takes only a few minutes to apply . . . and any woman can find that much time.

KEEP YOUTHFUL BLOOM

Full directions come with the package . . . and if you follow them faithfully you will keep that youthful bloom through the years if you are still young . . . and restore much of it, if you are not.

Don't worry about your aging skin . . . do something about it! Don't compromise with the years . . . make your own beauty circumstances and apply them rigorously to a regular routine of skin care.

For the name of this pore-tightening, complexion clarifying cream mask facial, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HAPPY is the woman whose facial appeal is as charming as this model's so, she, too, can capture the sidelong sorcery of this John Frederics-designed profile beret . . . a new hat silhouette for fall extending fashion's keynote of elongation. But, then, it takes a heap of good-looking complexion to wear almost any of the new-season millinery.

Muffins Always Popular

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

MUFFINS PUFFED HIGH, wide and handsome make the cook puff with pride, too. Families go for hot muffins with butter or margarine melting down into their fluffy lightness and with two spreads or jams from which to choose.

It may seem surprising that the best muffins usually require the least fuss. Success or disappointment is usually determined when the liquid is added to the flour mixture and stirred only until the flour is moistened. The wise cook stops here, for a batter that still looks lumpy means pleasingly plump muffins with the desirable pebbly tops. If she stirs the batter until smooth, her muffins will have lost those marks of perfection. They may even be embarrassingly tunneled and knobby. In few baked products does a little mixing mean so much as in muffins.

Handle the batter lightly and tenderly when filling the muffin pans, too. Take up just enough batter in the spoon to fill the greased muffin cups half full with a single scoop. After the pans are filled, the muffin batter may sit for about 30 minutes without harm before baking, if the filled pans are put into the refrigerator. Double-acting baking powders are a good precaution for muffins that are to be baked a half hour or so after mixing.

PLAIN MUFFINS

2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. sugar
1 egg
1 cup milk
2 tbsp. melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar. Beat egg and add milk and melted shortening. Add liquid to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin pans half full. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 minutes. Makes 16 to 18 small (1¼-inch) muffins, or 12 medium (2-inch) muffins, or 8 large (3-inch) muffins.

HONEY BRAN MUFFINS

2 cups sifted enriched flour
4 tsp. baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
2 cups bran
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup honey
1¼ cups milk
1 tbsp. shortening, melted

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; stir in bran and nuts. Combine remaining ingredients and add to flour-bran mixture, stirring only until mixed. Use tablespoon to dip batter into greased muffin pan and fill them 2-3 full. Bake in hot oven (400 to 425 deg. F.) for 25 to 35 minutes. Makes 16 large muffins.

GINGER CHEESE MUFFINS

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. ginger
2-3 cup grated American cheese
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
½ cup molasses
⅓ cup shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients; stir in grated cheese. Combine egg, milk, molasses and shortening; add to flour mixture, stirring only until mixed. Use tablespoon to dip batter into greased muffin pans and fill them 2-3 full. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) for 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium-sized muffins.

Only Jukebox Flirtation

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: There is a girl who comes into a public place I frequent. I never went there much until she began coming, but now I am in there as much as the owner.

I know from the way I feel about her and the way she looks at me, if we did get together I know things would click, but I am bashful and don't know how to go about making conversation with her. The only way she could have the slightest idea that I am interested is that when I play the jukebox I drop my nickel in, give her a glance and play songs that would reveal I'd like to meet her or know her better, and how sweet she is.

"R. C. R."

Dear "R. C. R.":

Personally, I don't think much of boys picking up girls, or vice-versa, in public places. However, if you have been flirting with her via the jukebox for as long as you indicate, I shouldn't think it would be hard to introduce yourself in some way by this time. You can hardly be a stranger to her. Why don't you just walk over some time and ask what she would like you to play on the jukebox, or if you couldn't buy her a dish of ice cream?

Hats Influence Accessories

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE importance of the new hats isn't merely that shapes are radically different or that their size is exaggerated, it's that they have come to serve so many functions.

This year's surprise millinery extends its coverage to include or influence such related items as shawls, scarves, muffs and gloves. The John-Frederics millinery ensemble of hat, shawl and gloves that is sketched today illustrates the trend. The hat is a towering edifice of white beaver with a stovepipe crown banded in triplicate in black. Its all-around brim is wide and flapping. The matching shawl boasts attached gloves, all parts and pieces done, like the hat, in white beaver.

3 Children Slain, Father Arrested

OMAK, Wash., Sept. 15 (INS) —Three sleeping children were shot and clubbed to death in their beds in an Omak farmhouse, and police were holding their father in the city jail.

Another child, who pleaded "Please don't shoot me in the head," was wounded several times in both legs, and then was beaten so violently with a rifle that the barrel was bent.

Police Chief Tom Johnson, whose officers subdued the father, William Cary, 31, only after a violent struggle, reported that no charges have yet been placed against him.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

WORLD WAR I was ostensibly fought to make the world safe for democracy. That was the slogan which stirred more enthusiasm than any statement made in any country during the recent war. Woodrow Wilson was too honest to use so loose a word as "democracy" ambiguously. He defined what he meant in his Fourteen Points which he had hoped might become the basis for peace.

The essence of the Fourteen Points was that a people have a right to an unhampered choice of their own government, not only in established countries but anywhere.

His revolutionary doctrine of the right of self-determination actually formed the basis for the establishment of many new countries most of which have by now either lost their independence or their right of self-determination.

Woodrow Wilson was essentially a nationalist who believed that a people, no matter how small, had a right to national life. His ideas influenced every people, so small a people as the Irish, so large an area as India.

IT ALL APPEARED to be gloriously idealistic at the time. It seemed then that by his League of Nations, Wilson had discovered the road to peace and by his Fourteen Points, the road to justice. Today the world knows neither peace nor justice and the League of Nations is dead. In retrospect, it is possible to see that World War I achieved six results:

1—It laid the foundation for the dissolution of the British Empire.

2—It destroyed the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

3—It destroyed the Turkish Empire.

4—It threw the continent of Europe into a state of revolution involving Communist, Fascist and anarchic stages.

5—It eliminated Germany as the barrier against Slavic and other Asiatic advances upon Western Civilization.

6—It paved the way for the United States to become the leading nation of the world, the dollar taking the place of the pound sterling in world economy. It placed upon this country such burdens as it may not be able to bear.

THE BRITISH, Austro-Hungarian and Turkish empires had been stabilizing forces in the world for centuries, holding in check numerous weak and backward peoples who were not quite ready for self-government.

True, some of the nations formed out of the Austro-Hungarian empire were of a fine, European culture, as for example, Czechoslovakia, but they included elements that made independent national existence difficult, if not impossible.

The criss-cross of nationalities, once nationalism became a substitute for morals, gave these peoples, a passion for internecine strife.

While Great Britain was powerful, Asia knew peace. The termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and the general weakening of British influence have thrown all of Asia into a chaos from which recovery is not likely in our times. The India-Pakistan, the Jewish-Arab partitions are preludes to compromise, not permanent solutions.

IN FACT, if World War I is studied objectively, at this distance, not a single gain for world peace can be found. It was a war to make wars. A war to stimulate revolution.

It destroyed the existing political and economic order which had been evolving, pendulum fashion, for two thousand years, and in its place provided nothing stable, nothing moral, nothing that brings peace, happiness or dignity to the individual human being. It was a tragic historic error.

For a century from Waterloo to Sarajevo, the world had been marching in one direction—to increased control of government by the people and to a higher standard of living.

This was not only true in Europe, but every part of Asia responded to this trend in human progress.

The imperfections were great: the gap between promise and performance, ideal and execution deep. Nevertheless, the young Turks, the revolution in China, the growth of representative government in Russia through the Duma, the modernization of Persia, the democratization of Finland, Latvia, Esthonia, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and even somewhat in Romania, Spain and Portugal, were human efforts toward liberty—slow, uncertain, faltering—but in one direction.

There are no such movements anywhere in the world today.

Dictatorships, despotisms, slavery, the police state, purges, political murders, displaced persons' camps—these are the clinical symptoms of our society.

World War I produced World War II, and now what?

1,000,000 simoleons! Whew! I ain't yet got over that chap wat walked inta the city fathers wid a nonchalant step an' sed; "Excuse me, but here's a millyun bucks fer some books!" Boy! That's wat I cal GIVIN'! Of course, I ain't never been one ta say that ya gotta give that kinda moolah to be a good giver. Some little people is bigger heros wat give a single buck ta some charity when that same buck means food an' shelter fer a day. It ain't never how much ya give but how ya give it. In dis case, I t'ink we got an unusual person wat wants to benefit everybody in a high class way. I couldn't ta thunk up a better one myself than a bran' new library. Well, all I know is that dis country gives more ta charity every year than most countries make in the same time. I must be on the mailin' lists of about a dozen outfits that ask me fer donations fer somethin' every year. If I know or feel they is doin' good work, I feel terrible until I peel a few bills offen my roll an' send 'em along wid good wishes. I think that as long as we kin help others wid a good heart, we are goin'ta be good people an' a great nation. So help me! Blunt Betrothal

MR. AND MRS. F. EVERETT WINSLOW of Exeter, N. H., announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Winslow Blunt, to Colin Franklin Newell Irving, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Irving of Brookline.

Mrs Blunt attended Skidmore College and graduated from Erskine. Her fiance graduated from Philips Exeter and Harvard. He served two years overseas in the USAAF and is now an instructor at Philips Exeter.

Mr. Irving was an usher at the marriage of Nancy Lloyd List to Jerome Davis Greene, 2d., at Ogunquit, Me., last Saturday.

MRS. THOMAS M. CLAFLIN of Heath st., Brookline, is giving a tea tomorow afternoon for members of the Wellesley College 75th anniversary fund. Mrs. Osgood Perkins and Mrs. Frank G. Allen will discuss plans for their alma mater's nationwide campaign to raise $7,500,000 to enable the college to maintain adequate salaries, provide sufficient scolarships, erect a new library and dormitory.

Mrs. Thomas M. Claflin

William V. M. Fawcett of Newton, chairmen of the men's committee and Miss Margery Foster of Wellesley, deputy comptroller of the drive, will speak. Among those present at the tea in Mrs. Claflin's home, former residence of Amy Lowell, New England's famous poetess, will be Mrs. Theodore C. Haffenreffer, of Brookline, national chairman of the drive, Mrs. Robert T. Monroe, Mrs. Oscar W. Haussermann, Mrs. James B. Munn, Miss Elizabeth Blaney, Mrs. Judson S. MacGregor of Milton, Miss Ellen Cushman, Mrs. Arthur S. Morse, Mrs. Kenneth S. Thompson, Mrs. Abraham E. Pinanski, Mrs. Charles L. Taylor, Jr., Mrs. Walter E. Lovejoy and Mrs. E. Russell Davis.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK JAMES HALLENBROOK of Brookline gave a luncheon Saturday to announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Virginia, to Joseph Walton Durber, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Durber of Detroit. The bride-elect attended Chamberlain School and graduated from Kathleen Dell.

Mr. Durber graduated from the University of Detroit and is a captain in the Infantry Reserve. He served in the Army 41 months in this country and Italy.

After an October wedding the couple will reside in Detroit. Mrs. James Wesley Bower (June Louise Hallenbrook) of Detroit, sister of the future bride, will be matron of honor.

IF ONE OF YOUR ancestors was a signer of the Declaration of Independence you should attend the luncheon Sept. 27 at historic Gore Place, Waltham, first large meeting in New England of the patriotic society known as Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Purpose of the affair is formation of a Massachusetts chapter Many descendants of the 56 signers are in the Bay State and among those already enrolled are Charles Francis Adams and Mrs Milton S. Thompson, descended from John Adams; Walter Channing, Henry Morse Channing, Joseph O. Edwards, Lindsley Loring, William Ellery Loring and Mrs. Ralph Lowell from William Ellery.

Also Mrs. Harold D. Walker, descendant of John Hart; Miss Eleo Sears, T. J. Coolidge, Miss Martha Jefferson Burke, from Thomas Jefferson; Mrs. John William Bergen from George Ross; Mrs. Lewis Allston Gillet from Lewis Morris; Huntington Wolcott Frothingham, Oliver Wolcott, Theodore Frothingham, Jr., Charles Henry Parker, Bayard Tuckerman and Samuel Huntington Wolcott from Oliver Wolcott.

FIRST LECTURE in Mrs. William Dana Orcutt's new season of Mornings of Diversion will take place Oct. 29 at N. E. Mutual Hall with many subscribers of former years exchanging greetings after long summer vacations.

Among the latest subscribers are Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs Charles E. Fay, Mrs. George E. Harding, Mrs. Horace Binney, Mrs. Charles N. Borden, Mrs. Edwin P. Holmes, Mrs. Ashton Hamilton, Mrs. Maxwell Harris, Mrs. Wm. H. Cole, Mrs. Thomas I. Freeborn, Mrs. Charles A. Sawin, Mrs. Charles L. Smith, Mrs. Arthur H. Stiles and Mrs. John F. White.

Aid Peril Cited By Rickenbacker

COLUMBUS, O., Sept 15 (INS) —Capt Eddie Rickenbacker warned today against the possibility of the United States depleting its resources in going all-out to aid economically-stricken Europe. He declared

"There is a great danger in bleeding ourselves white—in pumping the very life blood out of our veins to save a section of the world that may not have the power to respond and the will to live.

"You may not realize it, but the truth is that during the war this country consumed, through its own requirements as well as lend-lease, much more of our reserves of iron, oil, copper, lead, silver and gold than we could afford."

MEG MUNDY, who has an important role in "How I Wonder," opening tomorrow night at the Wilbur. Raymond Massey will be starred.

RUTH FORD in "This Time Tomorrow," new play by Dutch author Jan de Hartog, opening next Monday night at the Plymouth.

EVA LE GALLIENNE, co-author, co-producer and co-star of "Alice in Wonderland," tomorrow night at the Opera House.

Two Openings Tomorrow Night

"How I Wonder," the new Donald Ogden Stewart comedy starring Raymond Massey, will open at the Wilbur tomorrow night, instead of tonight as originally announced.

The new comedy from the typewriter of this able author, who wrote "Rebound," a hit of many years ago and has since devoted himself to movie scripts, concerns itself with a mild-mannered professor of astronomy who gets embroiled with his conscience.

The producers of the play are Ruth Gordon, who left the stage to become a successful playwright; her husband, Garson Kanin, producer of "Born Yesterday" and "Over 21"; Victor Samrock, managing director of the Playwrights Company; and William Fields, publicity director for the Playwrights.

At the Opera House tomorrow night, "Alice In Wonderland" will have its first Boston showing. Eva LeGallienne, who with Florida Friebus wrote the adaptation from the Lewis Carroll book is also co-producer and plays the role of the Red Chess Queen. Margaret Webster is the White Queen, and Bambi Linn, who won stardom overnight in "Carousel," will play Alice.

The Record-American pays $50 in weekly prizes for news and picture tips. Call City Editor, LIBerty 4000.

Flag Out of Reach, But B's Battle On For Sain, Spahn

By HUCK FINNEGAN

CHICAGO, Sept. 15—Eleven games behind Brooklyn with only nine games to play, the Braves were out of the flag race mathematically before they closed their series with the Cubs today. However, their third place position is the highest any Braves team has reached since 1916, and they seem certain to hold it.

Besides, there are several individual performances still demanding attention: Sain's bid for his 20th victory today, Spahn's determined bid to reach that magic mark, Elliott's great RBI drive. So interest will hold to the end.

Spahn registered his 18th victory in the first game of Sunday's double-header with the Cubs (Shoun lost the second, 6-1). Spahn's victory was by a 1-0 margin, and Elliott batted in the run.

It was Spahn's first outing since he lost a seven-hitter to Bucky Walters, 2-0, last week. The Braves seldom hit behind him. He had to win this one, like many others, the hard way. But win it he did, though his poor handling of bunts put him in several holes. Four double plays helped him in the field. Hopp and Elliott helped him with their bats.

His control was superb, and the way he had Nicholson and Mack chasing his changeup was beautiful to behold. He's sure of two more starts, and everybody on the club is rooting for him to win Nos. 19 and 20. He's the most talented southpaw in Braves modern history, and it is doubtful if there's a better one in baseball.

Elliott is concluding his best season. He had 110 RBI today, better than he ever did at Pittsburgh, and he still has nine games to go. Only two men in Braves history ever had a higher RBI total.

Tommy Holmes had 117 in '45. Last 100-RBI Brave before Holmes was Wally Berger, great slugger of the '30's. Berger had 119 in '30, 106 in '33, 121 in '34, 130 in '35. Hornsby's best as a Brave was 91. McInnis' 95. Sisler's 79, Boeckel's 81.

Ryan Approaches '44 Status

Another Brave who has been doing well in his quiet way is Connie Ryan. The graceful second baseman had only 18 RBI last year, has 70 this year and is playing a slick game afield. He saved Si Johnson in Pittsburgh Saturday with a backhand stop of Bloodworth's smash over second which he converted into a DP. The score was close at the time and the sizzling play seemed to take the gimp out of the disorganized Buccos.

He saved Spahn's skin in the eighth inning of Sunday's game. Errickson and Lowrey had bunted safely. Nobody out, tying run on second, winning run on first. Waitkus slashed a line drive toward center. Ryan got over quickly, caught it back-handed, stepped on second, and only Lowrey's quick return to first kept him from a triple play.

If he can play with the same shortstop all next season (Alvin Dark mayhap), he'll approach the All-Star status he earned in '44.

It makes the '48 outlook quite bright. Southpaw Ernie White is pitching in batting practice as well as he did for the Cards. He'll be available next year to partner Spahn, Sain, Barrett, Voiselle and the newcomers.

Add a good arm to the outfield, and the Braves will make it even closer than they did this year. Southworth keeps 'em hustling.

Hornsby Sits In

Braves had a 13-8 margin on the Cubs going into today's finale . . . Team leaves tomorrow for St. Louis where two single games are scheduled with the Cards . . . Si Johnson was presented with a Buick by his home town (Sherman, Ill.) admirers, and the speeches didn't last over a minute . . . Old Si never was a big money man. He can use the car . . . Lanfranconi got a car recently and Camelli will get one on his return to Braves Field . . . Rogers Hornsby watched the twin bill . . . "Remember me to Judge Fuchs and Ed Cunningham," he said . . . Hornsby says Cards would have repeated if Pollett had been himself. "Would have meant 10 games difference in the standings," he said . . . Tommy Holmes threw Nicholson out at the plate in the eighth inning of the night-cap, the first time any Brave gardener has done that in weeks.

In the sixth inning of the first game, nobody out, Spahn walked Aberson. Pafko, next up, swung on a 3-0 pitch and popped up. That wasn't smart . . . Braves made four DP's behind Spahn, Ryan the middle man on all four . . . Shoun didn't have a chance in the second game. Braves outfielders played so deep fly ball after fly ball fell in for base hits . . . Pafko contributed the fielding gem in the first game when he backed against the center field wall, 400 feet from the plate, to rob Holmes of an extra base hit with a twisting, back-handed catch. The wind played tricks with the ball . . . Pafko didn't have as much luck with Hopp's drive, and it bounced off the wall for a triple. Elliott's single brought him home, and Spahn had his 18th . . . In the ninth, Spahn stopped Pafko's bunt when the play was to let it roll. "Oh well," the southpaw philosophized, "had it rolled foul, he might have hit a home run on the next pitch. You never can tell."

Dodgers 7 Games From Flag; Win Today Does It for Yanks

It's all over but the shouting. If Brooklyn blows the National League pennant now, every member of the Dodgers including Mgr. Burt Shotton ought to be made to undergo a saliva test, according to the Associated Press.

KINER, MIZE VS. RUTH

By the Associated Press

Name	Homer	Game
Ralph Kiner	49	143
John Mize	47	139
Babe Ruth	49	131

Kiner needs 11 homers in 11 games to tie Ruth's mark of 60 made in 1927; Mize needs 13 in 15 games to tie; Kiner is nine games behind Ruth's pace and Mize is six as Ruth hit his 47th in his 133d game. The Babe slammed his 50th in his 138th game, Sept. 11, 1927.

The crushing blow to the Cardinals' fast fading flag hopes was delivered by remote control yesterday when the rampaging Brooks routed the Reds twice in a Cincinnati double-header, 13-2 and 6-3, while the Cards were being trampled in St. Louis, 9-1, by the New York Giants.

As a result, the Dodgers upped their margin over the Cards to seven full games. They can clinch the flag by winning seven of their remaining 15. Any combination of seven Dodger victories and Card losses would dethrone the world champion Cardinals.

Already "in" were the Yankees in the American League. Following their 6-4 win over the St. Louis Browns at the Yankee Stadium, the worst the Bronx Bombers can get now is a tie. One more win or Boston defeat would end all mathematical chance of the Red Sox.

It could easily come today as the Yanks again engage the last place Browns while the Red Sox play two games with the White Sox in Boston.

Although the Detroit Tigers walloped the Senators twice in Washington, 16-6 and 8-4, to move past the Red Sox into second place, they were mathematically eliminated from any pennant hopes when the Yankees won. They trail by 12½ games. The fifth place Athletics moved to within two and a half games of fourth place Cleveland by defeating the Indians, 11-9 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game which ended in a 4-4 tie, was halted at the end of nine innings by the 7 p. m. Pennsylvania curfew law.

The Phils vacated the cellar to make room for Pittsburgh as they dumped the Pirates twice, 7-3 and 9-7, in a doubleheader in Pittsburgh.

Joe Hatten, who until yesterday, found it almost impossible to beat any other club except the Cubs and Phillies, was credited with both Dodger wins over the Reds. They were wins number 15 and 16 for the southpaw.

Hatten went all the way to space seven hits in the opener as the Brooks pounded three Red flingers for 16 bingles.

Hatten came to the mound in the fourth inning of the nightcap, snuffed out a rally and pitched one-hit ball the rest of the way to receive credit for the second game win. Reese slammed his 12th homer in the ninth inning.

Rookie right-hander Larry Jansen, helped by an extra base hit attack against three St. Louis pitchers, limited the Cards to five hits for his 19th victory against five defeats. Bobby Thomson and Walker Cooper slammed homers for the Giants. Cooper, Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall also hit triples. Jim Hearn was the victim.

Dutch Leonard continued his mastery over the Pirates, making them walk the plank for the sixth time this season with a six-hitter in the opener. He has not lost to them. Schoolboy Rowe was credited with the win in the second game.

Joe Page, the sterling southpaw relief pitcher of the Yankees, saved Vic Raschi's seventh win for the young right-hander. It marked the 12th straight time a Yankee starter failed to go the route. Tommy Henrich's three-run homer in the third proved the payoff blow.

Vic Wertz, rookie outfielder, completed a cycle when he slammed a home run, triple, double and single in five times at bat, scored five times and drove in four runs in the Tigers' first game win. Dizzy Trout was credited with the second game triumph.

With Cleveland leading 6-2 in the eighth, the A's came up with nine runs, then staved off a ninth inning Indian uprising, to win the opener. Sam Chapman's grand slam homer featured the big inning.

Sox Play 3 Twin Bills On Successive Days

Dave "Boo" Ferriss (12-10) and Harry Dorish (6-9) or Ellis Deal (0-0) were scheduled to get the Red Sox under way this afternoon in the first of three double-headers on successive days. The White Sox of Chicago were the opposition with Charlie "Red" Ruffing (3-3) and Orvil Grove (5-8) Mgr. Ted Lyons' pitching selections.

The teams tried to play a twin bill on the Sabbath but after 7½ innings of the first game, with the score tied, 1-1, the rain fell so hard that the umpires were forced to call it off after an hour of waiting.

And it was "No contest" because the score at the time was deadlocked 1-1.

Thus the rival hose will play two games today and another bargain bill tomorrow, weather permitting, and on Wednesday the Crommmen have a double-header carded with the Browns.

A crowd of 22,080, truly amazing in view of the inclement weather, turned out and saw a thrilling mound duel between Joe Dobson and Ed "Lefty" Lopat until the washout came.

The home Hose picked up an unearned run in the second inning. Bobby Doerr singled after his time at bat had been prolonged when he hit a foul which catcher Mike Tresh dropped.

Same Mele followed with a single. The bases were loaded when Luke Appling dropped a Jake Jones pop.

The tainted tally registered as "Birdie" Tebbetts was hitting into a double play.

The White Sox, who have yet to win a game in Boston this season, knotted the count in the fifth as Floyd Baker singled and stole second and counted on a two-out single by Don Kolloway.

Otherwise, Dobson, seeking his 17th win, and Lopat after his 16th triumph, were in full command.

Then the Red Sox management made a most generous gesture by way of showing appreciation for the loyalty of the customers.

Though the patrons had seen a legal game when 4½ innings had been completed, they were informed that their rain checks would be honored for admittance to today's or tomorrow's double-header.

Report Bagby, Greenberg In Fist Fight

By JOHN GILLOOLY

CHICAGO, Sept. 15—Jim Bagby, Jr., and Hank Greenberg, ex-American Leaguers now teammates with the Pirates, engaged in a brief fist fight in the Pittsburgh dressing room following the Braves 8-1 win over the Bucs there Saturday. Information on this scrap, reportedly short but savage, was received late Saturday night in Pittsburgh, before the Braves made a sleeper jump here for the double-header with the Cubs yesterday.

After being tugged apart by half a dozen other Pirates Greenberg and Bagby were scarred.

Hank had a cut over an eye; Bagby's face was puffed and reddened in two spots. Before leaving the Pittsburgh boudoir, Greenberg allegedly tossed a mean look at the pacified Bagby and said, "This won't be the end of this."

The rumpus began in the fifth inning Saturday. Holmes, first batter, doubled off pitcher Bagby, formerly of the Red Sox, and then Mike McCormick reached first when Greenberg failed to scoop in Gustine's one-bounce throw. Greenberg was charged with an error and Bagby apparently started to boil.

The next play saw Danny Litwhiler dropping a routine bunt and it was this little thing, the bunt, which created the trouble. Bagby broke off the hurler's knoll to his right and this was according to the book. But Greenberg failed to move in and the Litwhiler tap finally was fielded by second baseman Jim Bloodworth much too late to make a play.

"Have I got to cover the whole blankety-blank infield?" Bagby shouted at Greenberg and Hank replied in kind. More words led to a mutual challenge; a showdown in the dressing room after the game.

Bagby was replaced shortly after the fifth in which the Braves acquired three runs, Litwhiler was picked off first, after dropping his safe and irritating bunt. Kluttz, the backstop to Greenberg made a good tag to complete the play. But Elliott followed with the first of his two homers, knocking in three runs and increasing Bagby's wrath.

Greenberg batted in the ninth and, instead of walking back to the bench after flying out, he dashed to the dugout runway and the Pirates, who had heard the exchange of words between "Hank" and Bagby, knew this meant trouble. Mgr. Bill Herman ordered six of the Bucs, who were not in the ball game, on the double after Greenberg.

This posse in search of peace arrived shortly after the swinging began, according to the report, which could not be confirmed by any Pirate or official, and it broke it up in quick order.

Kramer Set To Turn Pro

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—Having escaped the lightning twice within two days, young Jack Kramer of Los Angeles had nothing more to worry about today except which to choose of several rival tennis promoters who have been bidding for his professional services.

Big Jake finished cleaning up his amateur business yesterday when he survived two very poor opening sets and came on to beat the veteran Frankie Parker in the final of the National Championships at Forest Hills by 4—6, 2—6, 6—1, 6—0, 6—3.

He will play as an amateur in the Pacific Southwest Tournament at Los Angeles starting September 25 but that one really doesn't count. He had won the two big titles, Wimbledon and the American, to establish himself firmly at the top of the amateur heap and from here on the promoters can bid high.

After finishing off Parker, the champ said last night he was torn between several offers for his services on a world tour. Someone connected with Bing Crosby is reported to have "guaranteed" Kramer $100,000 earnings within a year. Jack Harris, of Chicago, is believed to have the inside track, though, and it is about an even bet that Kramer and professional champion Bobby Riggs will start beating the bushes under his auspices around Jan. 1.

Sitting on top of the amateur pile with Kramer was husky Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal. She captured the women's crown by defeating Margaret Osborne of San Francisco, 8—6, 4—6, 6—1, in their final. Later she teamed with John Bromwich of Australia to win the mixed doubles, beating Pancho Segura of Ecuador and Gertrude Moran of Santa Monica, Cal., 6—3, 6—1. This completed a grand slam for the Coast star, as she also holds the women's doubles title with Miss Osborne.

While the others were cutting up the tangible proceeds of the championships, Parker had a couple of fine memories to carry back with him to Los Angeles. He had beaten the great Kramer two sets - something no other player had done this year—and he had been accorded a moving tribute by the crowd of 13,000

Cobb Fails to Break Speed Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 15 (AP)—John Cobb sent his 7700-pound racing car across the measured mile on this western Utah speedway yesterday at a faster pace than ever attained on land before, but bad luck continued to dog him and prevented the return run required for recognition of a new world record

He later announced he will make a new attempt Tuesday between 4 and 6 p. m.

The Londoner sent his 24-cylinder Behemoth over the mile at 370.75 miles per hour, compared with his own 1939 record of 368.9 miles per hour, and over the kilometer course at 375.32, fastest speed ever attained by man except in the air.

The previous kilometer mark, also set by Cobb on this saline flat in 1939, was 369.7 mph.

After the cloud of salt driven up by the 28-foot snub-nosed vehicle settled after the north-to-south run Cobb returned to the timers' stand in the middle of the measured mile and reported that a "gaping hole" had been torn in the body and the south to north run would not be made today.

British Swimming Star Dies Suddenly

MONTE CARLO, Sept. 15 (INS)—Nancy Riach, 20-year-old British swimming star, died today at a Monte Carlo hospital. She had suffered an attack of infantile paralysis Saturday while competing in the European championships.

The Scottish girl, considered one of Britain's top 1948 Olympic contenders, had raced in the women's 100-meter free-style event against her doctor's advice on Friday after she had complained of feeling ill.

SEEKS CLINCHER

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 15 (AP) — The Nashua Dodgers will go after the clinching contest here tonight in the New England League playoffs for the Governor's Cup when they meet the Manchester Giants in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series.

Winner in three of the four games played, the Brooklyn farm team is anxious to knock off their intra-state rivals and win the cup.

The fifth game has been postponed by rain the past two nights.

TRA Refuses Aid To Horsemen

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 15 (INS)—Owners of horses at Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., suffering from swamp fever, learned today that they will not receive any financial aid from the Thoroughbred Racing Ass'n of America.

Judge James E. Dooley, head of Narragansett Park, and TRA president, turned down the request that the TRA contribute to the cost of paying for horses destroyed because of having "infectious anemia."

Dooley released a statement saying the matter was considered by the board of directors of the TRA at its meeting in New York last Wednesday.

Dooley explained:

"TRA is a nonbusiness, nonprofit corporation and cannot contribute funds for the purpose suggested. Furthermore, the established practice of the TRA is against making contributions to other organizations or incurring expenditures outside of its corporation purposes."

At the Salem, N. H., track at least six horses have died and at least 40 others are still under quarantine suffering from the disease.

Andrews, Wynn to Worcester Fight Card

Dave Andrews meets his toughest assignment Friday night in Worcester in Mechanics Hall when he opposes hard-hitting Jimmy Wynn of New York in the 10-rounder of an all-star program.

Andrews is well known in New England, where he is a prime favorite. Dave kayoed Johnny Cesario, defeated Gus Mel, Tony Falco, Georgie Martin, Baby Galento and others.

Braves Protest Sale of Pitchers

The Boston Braves awaited the results of an investigation by George Trautman, president of the National Association of Minor League Baseball Clubs, into the sale of two pitchers to the Syracuse Chiefs by the Border League's Watertown club.

Harry Jenkins, director of the Braves' farm system, said he protested the sale of the two pitchers—lefthanders Frank Fanovich and Richard Libby—and Trautman told him he would investigate.

Both the Braves and the International League Syracuse club announced the purchase of the players Saturday.

A checkup disclosed that Chiefs President Leo T. Miller had completed the deal with James F. Doyle, president of the Watertown Athletes, late Saturday afternoon and that papers were signed.

Jenkins, who had an option on the two pitchers until Monday, said he had agreed on terms for the purchase with Doyle Saturday afternoon by telephone and that he had sent a confirming telegram but had received no reply.

He added that a number of Braves officials were in his Boston office when he talked with Doyle

The Braves farm chief reported that Trautman told him he would make a ruling as soon as he had obtained all the facts from the parties concerned

Braves Sign Three Semi-Pro Players

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP)—Three regional amateur baseball players were signed by the Boston Braves today. Given contracts were:

John Karpinsky, 19, Ashley, Pa., husky outfielder who starred this summer with Swansboro, Ga., in a semi-pro league; Joseph Pawlak, 20, Hanover Township, Pa., a 6-foot 1-inch righthanded pitcher with a fast ball; Donald Pettit, 18, Nuangola, Pa., a lefthanded hitting catcher who starred with Meyers High School.

Karpinski and Pawlak were assigned to the Pawtucket (R. I.) Baseball Club of the New England League. Pettit will report for spring training with the Bluefield (W. Va.) Baseball Club of the Appalachian League.

Rate Fusari Favorite

Charley Fusari of Irvington, N. J., will enter the Arena ring tonight the favorite over Johnny Cesario, New England welterweight champion from the North End, as the Callahan A. C. holds its first indoor boxing program of the season.

Fusari rates the favorite role because of his fine showings at Madison Square Garden, N. Y. He kayoed Tippy Larkin, the junior welterweight champion, there in nine rounds, flooring the champion six times.

The supporting card has four six - round bouts split among welterweights and lightweights. Meeting in the former division will be Tommy Reardon of Brockton and Pat Shanron of Everett, Frankie Ross of the North End and Bill Daley of Brookline.

Tony Ferry of Fall River and Lennie LaBrutta of Newark, N. J. Bobby Welsh of South End, and Cliff Stevens of Newark, N. J. will be principals in lightweight matches.

Bruins Buy Center From Pittsburgh Hornets

Wally Wilson 26-year-old center of the Pittsburgh Hornets was purchased today by the Bruins in a straight cash sale. He played with the Hornets the past two seasons and was the property of the National Hockey League. Wilson scored 20 goals and 31 assists with Pittsburgh last season.

Manager Art Ross reported from St. Catherine, Ont., that the Bruins school for amateurs is now in full swing. He indicated he may take ten players to Bruins Hershey training camp.

'60 College Grid Teams Open Action This Week

By BILL GRIMES

Over the coming week-end, sixty college elevens will be in action. But it will be a fortnight before the New England gridiron fans will be treated to collegiate contests.

The intercollegiate season will officially open next Friday night but none of the games are outstanding. Furman journeys to Athens, Ga., to meet the University of Georgia; Texas Mines hikes up to Des Moines for a setto with Drake; the University of Detroit will be hosts to Central Michigan, and Baylor plays Austin at Waco, Tex.

The Penn State-Washington State, which will be played at Hershey, Pa., next Saturday afternoon will be the first worthwhile attraction of the season. But from a Boston College angle, the Clemson-Presbyterian clash at Clemson on Saturday will be of interest.

One week from next Friday night, the Eagles and Clemson will tangle at Braves Field and the Southern eleven will have one game under its belt before coming north.

Villanova and King's Point will warm up for Army and Yale respectively on Saturday afternoon. Villanova, listed to meet B. C. on October 24, will trek to West Point a week hence, while King's Point will be at New Haven.

Although a few of the smaller New York and Pennsylvania elevens get underway this week, there isn't a New England institution scheduled to start its football season earlier than one week from Friday.

Supposedly, this section is the coolest in the country, but the colleges refuse to book games before the last week-end of this month.

On the other hand, most of the Southwestern Conference elevens will break from the barrier this week. The Longhorns of Texas will entertain Texas Tech at Austin; the Texas Aggies expect to stampede Southwest Texas at College Station; West Texas will play Tulsa; Texas Christian will make its debut at Kansas City, playing the University of Kansas, and Oklahoma A. & M. meets Kansas State at Manhattan, Kan.

Alabama and Kentucky start off with Mississippi South and Mississippi, respectively, and six Pacific Coast teams open Saturday, San Francisco playing San Jose State at Oakland; Santa Clara at Berkeley, and Puget Sound visiting Moscow to take on Idaho.

BU Will Give Crimson Tough Time--Donelli

"They're not good and they're not bad," commented Head Coach 'Buff' Donelli of Boston University as his charges trudged off the field after completing their second week of double practice sessions at Nickerson Field.

"I don't know whether we can be far enough advanced to lick Harvard," continued the grid mentor, "but at any rate they'll know they were in a game before it is through. The team has come along as well as I expected at this stage."

Donelli checked the weights of each man as he came out of the shower room and seemed concerned over the fact that many of his players had dropped as much as 20 pounds. However, he hastened to explain that he believes in having his ball club somewhat underweight before the season starts, as he feels that many of the boys will start putting it back on as soon as they cut down to single sessions.

Sitting down on the clubhouse steps, Donelli added that Harvard is apparently well set on their first team which has a year's experience under its belt.

"We lack experience in many key positions, and we may not be quite big enough for Harvard," said "Buff."

Johnny Toner has had no experience in the quarterback slot until this year, and there is still a mad scramble for the starting fullback berth between Sil Cella of Revere and Gene Mancino a newcomer from West New York, N. J. About the only two backs who are really familiar with their starting berths are Don Giles, triple threat halfback and captain of the squad, and Bobby Hatch, the Melrose speed merchant.

Coach Donelli stated that he was now trying to level off the team play and hoped that he could iron out some of the wrinkles which have cropped up here and there.

He intends to concentrate on blocking, deception and ball handling for the next few days. At the same time, he hopes to sharpen the squad up on their defensive play.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—United States made clean sweep of Davis Cup inter-zone finals with Sweden, winning final two singles for right to meet Australia in challenge round.

THREE YEARS AGO—St. Louis Browns moved back into American League lead, defeating White Sox on Jack Kramer's one-hitter as Yankees lost to Athletics and Tigers were idle.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Yankees clinched the American League pennant for second successive year and for sixth time in seven seasons as Ernie Bonham, winning No. 20, beat Cleveland, 8-3.

TEN YEARS AGO—Greyhound trotted to new world record of 3:02½ for mile and a half at Indianapolis harness race meeting.

CHILD'S PLAY—The Yale football squad use a game made popular by children to get into condition for the gruelling season. Trainer Eddie O'Donnell toughens the players with a game of "piggy back." If you don't think it's tough, try it for five minutes.

'46 Critics Will Have to Like Clasby

By LEO MONAHAN

Ed Clasby, Boston College signal caller, was made the "goat" when the Eagles lost their opening game against Wake Forest last season and since that time has been a target for criticism by many armchair quarterbacks. If his performance against Harvard in the recent Eagle-Crimson scrimmage is any criterion, the Natick sophomore may soon be the fair-haired boy of those who were recently so critical.

The popular 185-pound pre-medical student emerged from the scrimmage as one of the standouts of the secret session. His selection of plays, although limited to the basic ones of the T-formation, produced results. He was hitting the mark with his bullet-like passes and his all-around performance left little to be desired.

After fumbling a punt, which eventually led to a rival touchdown, Clasby was a target for criticism and, as a result, seemed to tighten up when calling plays in the next few games. Towards the end of the season, he appeared to be regaining his composure.

He was immense in spring drills and has shown so far that the loss of Don Pancera, a frosh sensation last season, will not be felt as hard as was first expected.

It may be wishful thinking but Coach Denny Myers ranks Clasby in Eddie Doherty's class as a ball handler. Regardless, Clasby handles the pigskin very well. He's deceptive and a heads-up competitor, quick to capitalize on an opportunity.

He has the faculty of sizing up a situation and making the most of it. Against Harvard, whenever has was attempting to pass and saw his receivers blanketed, he ran with the ball and worked his way through broken fields for sizable gains.

The main cog in the machinery of the B. C. attack this season, Clasby seems headed for a banner year as the Eagles' play caller.

Since classes resume today, Myers will only have single drills until the opener against Clemson (Sept. 26) . . . There's a possibility that another B. C.-Harvard scrimmage may be arranged . . . Both Myers and Harlow seemed in favor of it after Saturday's workout at the Stadium . . . If arrangements are completed it will probably take place at Alumni Field next Saturday.

Clemson has 27 returning lettermen from last year's squad . . . The line play in the opening game should be nothing short of terrific since both elevens sport large, powerful walls . . . Clemson's coach, Frank Howard, is a master at the art of line technique.

The Tigers use a single wing . . . This will be the first post-war meeting between the two teams . . . Clemson captured two of the three games played to date . . . The Tigers also have a stiff schedule, meeting Wake Forest, No. Carolina State, and Georgia.

Hawaii Teams Due Here Friday

Eight amateur boxing champions from Hawaii will arrive at the East Boston airport on Friday to get in a few early days of training for the boxing carnival on Wednesday, Sept. 24, at the Boston Garden.

The Hawaiian team are all members of the recently completed Golden Gloves champions held a short while ago on the Islands. Four of them competed in Boston during the 1947 National AAU championships.

The members of the New England team, announced over the week-end, are John Griffin, Lawrence, and Frank Collins, Roxbury, in the 112's; Earl Carroll, Haverhill, in the 118's; Pete Newell, Salem, and Ed Grant, USN, in the 126's; Bob Hayes, Roxbury, and Jackie Wilson, Quincy, in the 135's; Hal Sullivan, Tewksbury, and Dick Callahan, in the 147's, and light heavyweights Howard Kane, Arlington, and Alex Tsakaris, USN.

The New England middleweight and heavyweight classes will be determined shortly.

$4200 STEELCRAFT CRUISER
First Prize in Martha's Vineyard Bass Derby

Martha's Vineyard Striped Bass Derby Gets Under Way

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

VINEYARD HAVEN, Sept. 15—"Stripers!" . . . That's the word on scores of signs that stipple this idyllic island, pointing the way to fishing "hot spots" here for the numerous eager anglers, who are on hand for the big Martha's Vineyard Striped Bass Derby, which gets under way today, with $22,000 worth of prizes. This contest, running until Oct. 15, tops any other held on the East Coast.

To the fortunate fisherman landing the largest linesider will go a $4200 Steelcraft cruiser, a 26-foot craft, complete in every detail. To qualify for this amazing award, the bass must be caught while surf casting from the shore. A new 1947 Plymouth coupe will be presented to the second heaviest fish taken by a surf caster, with an outboard motor dinghy to the third finisher.

For the biggest striper hooked from a boat, $500 awaits some agile angler. Myriads of other prizes will be given in classes for women, children, fly rods, veterans, non-residents, seniors over 65 years of age, and the like.

Although the Derby is limited to 2000 contestants, it's not too late to enter. Write to Howard Leonard, secretary, Martha's Vineyard Rod and Gun Club. The fee is only two dollars, the same price as a pari-mutuel ticket—and stripers often "run" faster than race horses

Speaking of "hot spots," shining Squibnocket Beach is producing best for surf casters at the moment. Other well-known rendezvous are Gay Head, Menemsha, Tashmoo Opening, East Chop, Katama Bay, Wasque Point, and South Beach.

Aready, the roads leading to these piscatorial places are humming with the sound of autos, their tops loaded with long surf casting rods, while beach buggies bound hither and yon across the dunes. Incidentally the latter are available this year, and plenty of boats may be obtained as well.

DERBY DATA: Something new has been added to this second annual edition of the finny fray—a special team competition for groups of five, in which a perpetual trophy, the Mickle Mug, will be won by the quintet catching and RELEASING the greatest number of bass. Scoring will be on a point basis, and fishing must be carried on during a specific 12-hour period within a 24-hour day . . . First team to enter is The Plug-ateers, of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, issuing a challenge to all sportsmen to meet 'em, preferably on. Sept. 29 . . . That team of New England Governors can't find any opponents yet, we hear.

ANGLES ON ANGLERS: Ed Bannister, genial State Conservation Officer, who patrols the Vineyard, usually hooks scores of stripers during the season. Last year, however, he failed to win a prize, but hopes to tie into a "bull" any evening . . . Walter Woods, manager of the Mansion House, fished almost every day of last year's Derby, without so much as a nibble . . . But bass can be caught, for Nat Sperber, publicity director for the contest, took his initial striper this summer, after trying his luck for five seasons . . . Gordon Pittman, of New York, who won the Derby with his 47-pounder in 1946, plans to be on hand for a "repeat performance"—he hopes!

WHEN KIDNEYS Work Too Often

Cote Shows Way in Quebec Marathon

QUEBEC, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., took top honors in the Quebec international marathon yesterday when he crossed the finish line in 2:48:32.2 after a start from the downtown Municipal Stadium here with a pack of 17 contestants.

Lloyd Evans of Montreal and Walter Young of Montreal placed second and third with times of 2:50:29.5 and 3:02:06.

Three contestants from the Boston Amateur Athletic Ass'n, Johnny Semple, Ted Woods and David Huson, placed fourth, eighth, and ninth with times of 3:09:36, 3:34:05 and 3:45:45, respectively.

Bruins Buy Leafs' Center

The straight cash purchase of Wally Wilson, a 26-year-old center from the Toronto Maple Leafs was announced today by President Weston Adams of the Boston Bruins National Hockey League club.

Wilson, who played with the Pittsburgh club in the American Hockey League during the past two seasons, has been ordered to report to the Bruins' pre-season training camp at Hershey, Pa., on Sept. 29.

It is likely that the Bruins will try Wilson at right wing.

Sports Roundup

By the Associated Press

You'll be hearing more than ever about the "T" formation this football season and there's a strong suspicion that some coaches will be springing fancy variations now that they all know the standard procedure . . . In fact, there's been a persistent rumor that George Halas, whose Chicago Bears are largely responsible for its popularity, plans to pull a few switches, and Marquette's Frank Murray is reliably reported to have spent the time while he was in the hospital last spring cooking up variations of the standard "T" plays.

The best suggestion as to how the coaches will vary the "T" comes from the Cardinals' Jimmy Conzelman . . . Jim warns: "Look for the "T" formation to employ the use of the flanker back set out from the huddle this year on many formations. While the man in motion still will be the basic way of putting a backfield man out on the flanks, the wide flanker will not be used much more than it has in the past."

When Coach Alvin Nugent McMillin of Indiana U. saw a couple of large tents being erected near the football practice field, he naturally asked: "What gives?" . . . An assistant explained that there were nearly 3000 scouts on the campus . . . "Are they all here to watch us?" Alvin demanded . . . "No," replied the smartie, "these are boy scouts, not bo scouts."

Buck O'Neill, the trotting horse association publicist, is looking for a harness-race driver older than Mike Wilsh, who won at the recent Bedford, Pa., meet. Mike is 88 . . . Al Hoisch, who salvaged something for U. C. L. A. out of the Rose Bowl rout with his 103-yard run, checked in at 147 pounds this season. He weighed only 122 when he first returned from the Burma-India theater . . . The New York Rangers, who start training next week, claim to be the first hockey club to provide its own food and lodging in camp and to operate like a football training table . . . Junior Collopy, Nebraska U. halfback, spent the summer working as a driver for his father's taxi company in Scotts-Buff, Neb. . . . driving a collopy joloppy, of course.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By the Associated Press

PITCHING, Joe Hatten, Dodgers — Was credited with both victories in Dodgers 13-2 and 6-3 sweep of double-header with the Reds; he went all the way spacing seven hits for his 12th win in the opener and allowed one hit in five and two-third innings of relief in the second.

BATTING, Vic Wertz, Tigers —Hit for a cycle in the opener against the Senators which went to the Tigers 16-6. He slammed a homer, triple, double and single, scored five runs and drove in four.

CANCEL BIRD DOG TRIALS

TILSTON, Man., Sept. 15 (AP) —Cancellation of the scheduled All-America bird dog trials was announced here today with a lack of suitable grounds given as the reason. The trials had been scheduled to follow the Dominion Ch trials now in action.
